

Russia in Bitter Attack on Arctic Inspection Plan

Will Not Take Part in Talks
Proposed by U. S.

United Nations, N.Y. — (AP) — The Soviet Union today delivered a blistering attack on the Eisenhower plan for creation of an Arctic inspection system to guard against surprise attack.

Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev declared Russia would not take part in negotiations proposed by the United States. Instead, he suggested that the whole question of safeguards against surprise attacks be left to a summit conference along with a long list of other problems.

Sobolev addressed the U.N. security council after U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge had appealed to the Soviet Union to agree at least to discuss a limited and experimental system of aerial and ground inspection in the Arctic.

Cites Alliances
The Soviet delegate charged that the discussions as proposed by the United States would leave the Soviet Union standing alone against a group of countries linked to the United States by military alliances.

The United States had suggested that the participants include the Soviet Union, United States, Britain, France, Canada, Denmark and Norway as well as any other Arctic powers which wanted to take part.

Lodge was unusually mild and conciliatory in his appeal for immediate action.

Lodge addressed the security council as Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in Moscow dismissed the inspection plan as "a matter of sheer publicity."

Earlier Sobolev laid before the 11-nation council a formal proposal urging an early summit meeting and leaving all discussion of military inspection to such a meeting.

Turn in Road
Lodge took no note of the Soviet proposal, in pressing for private negotiations on the Eisenhower proposal. He said today's council meeting could "mark the turn in the road for which humanity has been looking."

He said the United States was willing to separate the Arctic inspection question from the broader problem of disarmament and start with limited measures.

"If we can proceed gradually," he said, "and first experiment with limited measures of aerial and ground inspection, it should facilitate the subsequent expansion of inspection."

Lodge again denied Soviet charges that flights of U. S. strategic air command planes in the Arctic were a threat to the Soviet Union.

Group Suggests Tax Cut if Economy Has Decline This Month

Washington — (AP) — The Committee for Economic Development said today an income tax cut will be in order if employment and business activity decline in April below March levels.

It recommended a temporary 20 per cent across-the-board reduction in individual tax rates expiring March 31, 1959, to provide a $7 billion stimulus to consumer purchasing power if tax reduction becomes necessary.

CED's views were contained in a statement by Alfred C. Neal, president, delivered in his absence to the house banking committee by CED research officials Herbert Stein of Washington, and Robert Ryan of New York.

President of Canco Calls for Income Tax Cut

Says Action Needed
To Combat Downturn
In U. S. Business

Special to Post-Crescent

New York — William C. Stolk, president of American Canco, called today for an income tax cut "across the board" to combat the business downturn, and an end to "pump priming and other unrealistic measures." He expressed confidence at the same time in the outlook for American business.

Speaking at the company's 57th annual stockholders meeting here, Stolk also reported the firm's first quarter 1958 sales and rentals set a record for the period of $220,137,507. This compared with the previous high of $213,083,645 in the first quarter of last year. He explained that the figures are combined totals for all the divisions and subsidiaries of the company, including the former Dixie Cup company and Marathon Corporation acquired by American Can in 1957.

He said earnings for the first quarter of 1958 were maintained at a level only slightly under the comparable period of 1957. After provision for all charges including taxes on income, they totaled $7,056,773, compared to $7,499,907 in last year.

Asks Removal of Union Monitor

Washington — (AP) — A petition asking the removal of Godfrey P. Schmidt as a monitor of the teamsters union, has been filed in U. S. district court.

John Cunningham of New York, who served as chairman of a teamsters rank-and-file committee which sued to bar James R. Hoffa from the union presidency, filed the petition.

Cunningham said Schmidt, a New York attorney, "serves three masters — the plaintiffs, the court and his own interests."

The papers on file today said Schmidt did not consult with Cunningham before asking a $350,000 fee for himself and two other attorneys who represent the rank-and-file committee.

Chamber Told Union Power Threat to U. S.

Attorney Calls It Greater Peril Than Russian Might

Washington — (AP) — A New York attorney told the U. S. Chamber of Commerce today growing labor union power is "a more immediate threat to our way of life than the military might of Soviet Russia."

Theodore R. Iserman, attorney who specializes in labor-management relations, said in remarks prepared for the chamber's annual meeting:

"The mine workers, the steel workers, the auto workers and dozens of others have strangleholds on the industries whose employees they represent, and through those industries can bring our country to the brink of disaster, as they have done time after time, in peace and in war."

"And the teamsters, now controlled by that great labor statesman Jimmy Hoffa, and uncounted numbers of racketeers, crooks and hoodlums, can bring our country to its knees in a matter of days, which is more than Khrushchev can do."

Force Pay Prices Up
Iserman said that despite growing unemployment and relatively hard times, unions have forced wages and thus prices up for the first time in any recession.

"They have in effect, repealed the law of supply and demand," he said, calling it an indication of labor leaders' economic power.

Union leaders, Iserman said, have political power matching their economic power. He said labor politicians have made great gains in congress and in state legislatures "in their ability to intimidate some politicians who, left to their own devices, would tend to be independent."

Iserman said it might be a good idea for organized business and industry to take a few pages from the book of the AFL-CIO and its political organization, and organize trade associations affiliated with the chamber and National Association of Manufacturers in a nationwide political organization. He continued:

"You can discuss the issues publicly and support your views, publicize the records of candidates for federal and state offices, tell at least your members what candidates you prefer and why, and, with minimum of cash, organize your own people to duplicate in some small measure the intensive efforts of paid and unpaid minions of the AFL-CIO."

Gov. Vernon Thomson swung at the control over Democratic affairs he said is held by the Capital Times. Madison, unlike the rest of the state, was used to controlled satellites long before sputnik, Thomson joked.

Swing Around Orbit
"In Madison, we have had satellites swinging around the orbit of a certain influence in that community for many years," he said.

These satellites, in the form of endorsed candidates, orbit making "unintelligible beeping sounds" as they repeat editorials and come burning to earth when support is withdrawn and they fail to quote correctly," he stated.

The caucus endorsed Rep. John Byrnes for reelection to his seventh term in a resolution which described him "as one of the nation's outstanding legislators" and one who has been "increasingly entrusted

Twining Says Forces Set to Meet Attack

Washington — (AP) — Gen. Nathan F. Twining told congress today some U. S. forces are ready now — without the legislation asked by President Eisenhower — to strike back within 30 minutes of attack.

House armed services committee critics of Eisenhower's defense reorganization proposals promptly seized on the statement by Twining, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

Senate Passes Bill on Pension-Welfare Funds

Labor Legislation Stays
Major Political Issue
For Autumn Elections

Washington — (AP) — The senate passed a pension-welfare fund control bill 88-0 last night but generated enough heat in five days of debate to keep the political pot boiling the rest of this session.

Indications today were that the house labor committee will hold hearings on the bill with prospects there uncertain. The house already has 15 bills on the subject including one identical to the senate measure.

Chairman Barden (D-NC) of the house committee has said, however, he believes there is a public demand for action in this field.

The senate finally achieved a unanimous vote for the bill after Republicans denounced it as too weak and Democrats defended it as a strong protection for 85 million Americans covered by pension and welfare funds.

Until the final roll call, Republicans fought unsuccessfully to broaden the bill into a general labor reform measure.

Would Guard Employees
Fourteen amendments they offered, covering a wide range from proposals designed to assume union democracy to efforts to make major changes in the Taft-Hartley law, were defeated. A coalition of all Democrats except Sen. Lausche (D-Ohio) plus about a dozen Republicans turned them back.

Only one amendment was adopted. It was a proposal by Sen. Mundt (R-SD) to make it illegal for a person convicted of a felony to serve as officer, trustee, custodian or employee of a pension or welfare fund.

This was adopted 90-0 after sponsors of the bill and the Democratic leadership accepted it, saying they too were against sin and criminals.

The bill, which was a part of the Eisenhower administration's 1958 labor program, seeks to protect employees covered by the benefit funds through full disclosure of their operations.

It would require registration with the secretary of labor and detailed public accounting of operations of each fund. For the first time, federal criminal penalties are set up for embezzling or stealing any of the moneys, or taking kickbacks in connection with a fund, as well as for false reporting to the government.

The measure grew out of hearings into looting of some benefit funds conducted by Sens. Ives (R-NY) and Douglas (D-Ill.). They co-sponsored it along with Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.), chairman of the senate labor subcommittee.

Huge Total Involved
The bill would exempt for the first two years plans covering fewer than 100 employees. But, even so, Kennedy estimated it would bring in at least 40,000 plans involving $35 billion.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell and the AFL-CIO both endorsed the legislation.

The course of the debate assured that there will be wrangling over labor legislation for the remainder of the session.

Republicans repeatedly charged that their inability to broaden the pension-welfare bill meant there would be no meaningful legislation in the field this year. They contended passage of this bill would be used as an excuse for not acting on any other labor bill this year.

Nasser Starts
Moscow Visit

Kremlin Hopes for Closer Ties With Arab Republic

Moscow — (AP) — President Nasser flew into Moscow today for an 18-day state visit that the Kremlin hopes will bind the United Arab Republic still closer to the Soviet Union.

The trip is Nasser's first visit to a major world power. The invitation to come to Moscow was extended in 1955, the year Russia started arming Egypt, but was delayed by the Suez crisis.

Nasser landed at Vnukovo airport shortly before noon in a luxurious Soviet TU104 jet liner escorted by a flight of Yak jet fighters. He was greeted with full military honors.

Workers Cheer Nasser
Several hundred factory workers turned out at the airport to cheer the U.A.R. president and his 15-man delegation. Thousands lined flag-draped streets to the Kremlin, where Nasser was expected to stay in palatial quarters once occupied by the czars.

All leading papers carried portraits, editorials and biographies eulogizing Nasser and praising Soviet-Arab relations.

Russian President Klementi Voroshilov denounced colonialism and imperialism in a brief airport welcoming speech. He said Nasser and his "friendly, freedom-loving people" were a tremendous force in the cause of peace.

Nasser in reply, thanked the Soviet Union for its help to Egypt during the 1956 Suez invasion, when Russia threatened to bombard Britain and France unless they withdrew.

"Our people know the Soviet Union stands for peace," Nasser said.

Job Relief Bill
Sent to House

Washington — (AP) — A disputed $1½ billion unemployment relief bill was cleared for house action today by a split vote of the rules committee.

The bill will be open to virtually unlimited amendments on the floor with Republicans free to try to substitute for it President Eisenhower's rival program.

Leaders hope to schedule it for debate tomorrow if Chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) of the rules committee acts today to place it on the house calendar.

Smith is opposed to the bill, calling it an "outright dole" and socialism.

The bill was drafted by Democrats on the house ways and means committee over Republican opposition.

It would provide 16 weeks of jobless pay at state rates to almost all unemployed — including those who have exhausted benefits under state insurance programs and those not presently eligible. The government would foot the bill.

Bosses, Madison Ring Lashed by GOP

Steinle Attacks Proxmire for Worshipping at Shrine of Labor

BY JAMES BARTELT
Press-Gazette Staff Writer

Green Bay — CIO "labor bosses," the Farmers Union and the "Madison ring" of the Democratic party got tongue lashings Monday night as Eighth district Republicans met for their spring caucus at the Beaumont hotel.

An audience of about 250 heard Roland Steinle, prospect for endorsement as Republican candidate for U. S. senate, roll two of the labels into a combined description. Madison controllers of the Democratic party, of which Sen. William Proxmire is a part, have opened an attack on him (Steinle) because he has exposed their "worshipping at the shrine of the No. 1 labor boss of the United States, Walter Reuther."

Gov. Vernon Thomson swung at the control over Democratic affairs he said is held by the Capital Times. Madison, unlike the rest of the state, was used to controlled satellites long before sputnik, Thomson joked.

General Motors Notifies UAW of Contract's End

Detroit — (AP) — General Motors Corp. served a termination of contract notice today on the United Auto Workers union. The notice is effective at midnight May 29, when the current 3-year contract expires.

GM did not say whether this meant it would shut down or attempt to operate without a contract after May 29.

Louis Seaton, GM vice president for industrial relations, expressed hope a new agreement can be reached within 30 days and added that the company and UAW can discuss possibility of extending the current contract "before such termination becomes effective, should that appear desirable."

Contracts have been extended beyond termination dates in past negotiations, but when the UAW has served termination of contract notice this generally has been interpreted as a strike notice.

General Motors and Ford Motor Co. joined yesterday in an emphatic no to UAW President Walter P. Reuther's proposal to put off until September a showdown on new contracts.

A charge of driving without a license was dismissed after City Attorney Don Jury requested to drop the charge.

Blank was arrested by state police on Highway 41 near County Trunk AA early Sunday morning. He registered 26 on the drunkometer. A reading of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

Kennedy May Tell His Plans for '60

Reports Persist That Senator Will Declare Presidential Intentions During Party Rally in Milwaukee

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — Reports that Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts, regarded as one of the likely contenders for the 1960 presidential nomination of the Democratic party, will directly or indirectly declare himself at the annual fund-raising dinner of the Wisconsin Democratic party is boosting interest in the event.

The Democratic party of Wisconsin is sponsoring the annual money-raising rally under the usual name of the Jefferson-Jackson Day banquet on May 17.

The Massachusetts senator has been engaged as the principal speaker at the Milwaukee auditorium, where the party faithful will attend at a price of $25 each.

Seat Sales

Kennedy has been publicized more widely as a prospective presidential contender than almost any other possibility.

That Wisconsin Democrats should circulate the story that he may declare himself here is natural — in their effort to attract as many seat sales as possible.

But the report has corroborated elsewhere. It is understood that Kennedy will attract a sizeable representation of the eastern press corps for his speech. It has also been noted that he has billed other speeches in the middle west and northwest this spring. The states in this part of the country have the earliest presidential delegate elections in 1960 and historically have been used as barometers of popular sentiment on presidential nominations.

Stump for Proxmire

Sen. Kennedy made his first stop in Wisconsin late last summer when he came to stump for William Proxmire in the latter's campaign for U. S. senator.

Some party men are already speaking up as favoring his nomination. But there are contrary voices also. The Wisconsin CIO News this week reported that the Wisconsin Teamsters Union is boycotting the Kennedy dinner, because of the senator's part in the McClellan committee exposure of Teamsters' Union irregularities on the national level.

McCarthy Censure

The pro-Democratic paper also remarked that Sen. Kennedy signed the most recent McClellan committee report on labor rackets, "which also earned the displeasure of ranking AFL-CIO leaders."

Some local Democrats also have reservations about the Massachusetts senator, as they put it, because he did not vote on the motion when the U. S. senate censured the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin. That complaint has recently brought some public rejoinders from Kennedy's Wisconsin friends. Among others, John Reynolds, the Green Bay party leader, has explained publicly that Kennedy made his public position clear on the McCarthy issue in other ways and that he was unable to vote on the senate roll call because of illness.

Fire Damages Two Taverns

Loss Estimated At $50,000 in Milwaukee Blaze

Milwaukee — A smoky 3-alarm fire ate through an old 2-story brick building housing two downtown taverns early today, causing damage estimated at $50,000.

Asst. Fire Chief Louis Hoefft said the blaze started in Mr. Anthony's Cocktail Lounge and spread through the walls to the second floor and attic. The fire also involved the Gay 90's bar in the same building.

Hoefft said no one was in either tavern or in the second-floor living quarters at the time.

The blaze was reported at 3:32 a.m. and was brought under control shortly before 4:15 a.m.

Smoke climbed the side of the 8-story Hotel Royal, next door to the building and then poured eastward over the downtown area. The hotel sheltered the burning building from a cold, westerly wind of about 20 miles per hour. Firemen fought the blaze in temperatures hovering about 30 degrees.

Hoefft estimated $35,000 damage to the building and $15,000 to the contents.

Exact cause of the blaze was undetermined, but firemen said it may have started in the carpeting of the Mr. Anthony tavern.

Thought Drowning Boy Was Only Jumping Up And Down in Water

Dallas, Texas — Two youths who thought a boy was "jumping up and down in the water" watched the 11-year-old youngster drown here.

George Ralph Pounds, 17, and Jimmy White, 22, told police they saw Perry Louis Stephenson "jumping up and down" in a muddy creek yesterday and paused to watch.

They told police the boy shot up out of the 7-foot-deep water several times before he went under and disappeared.

Pounds and White leaped to the rescue then, pulled the boy out and began artificial respiration. Firemen worked with a resuscitator but failed to revive the youngster.

Today's Chuckle

The paratrooper was home on furlough.

"How many jumps have you made?" a friend asked.

"None," said the boy. "But I've been pushed out 17 times."

Laboratory in Orbit Called For by Medic

Earth Satellite Could be Used for Exploring Space

Denver — A leading military medical expert on space flight problems today proposed using an earth satellite to probe into major mysteries of life and growth.

Col. Paul A. Campbell of the air force office of scientific research (OSR) said an orbiting laboratory is needed for studies of the effects of prolonged weightlessness and cosmic radiation upon both animal and plant life.

Campbell told an OSR-institute of the Aeronautical Sciences Symposium on Astronautics that such a floating laboratory, 200 miles or more above earth, could shed light on the dynamics of the heart and blood vessel system in the absence of the "1-G load" of the normal earth's gravity.

Pull of Gravity

Similar studies would involve the effect of weightlessness on "the fluid dynamics of other parts of the body — for instance, the urinary bladder." They might indicate how much of man's energy is consumed by the constant pull of gravity.

Regarding plant life, studies aboard a satellite might help explain why the stems and trunks of plants grow upward and their roots grow downward, and whether gravity is a limiting factor in plant growth.

Campbell noted that Maj. Herbert Stallings of the air force School of Aviation Medicine has accumulated 40 minutes of weightlessness during a series of airplane flights.

"But before the effects of weightlessness can be completely evaluated days, weeks and months in the gravity-free state will be required," he said.

"This adds up to a requirement for a satellite laboratory."

Campbell said a trained man in the space laboratory will be as essential as the laboratory itself. He said such a trained medical scientist can act both as "the observer and the observed."

Dr. Albert Schweitzer Calls for Summit Talks To Outlaw Nuclear Arms

Oslo, Norway — Dr. Albert Schweitzer has called upon the world's nuclear powers — the United States, Russia and Britain — to meet at the summit to outlaw nuclear weapons.

The 83-year-old winner of the 1952 Nobel peace prize said in a statement issued last night that a nuclear weapon ban would clear the way for discussion of other disarmament questions.

The Nobel institute in Norway distributed the statement and two related ones by Dr. Schweitzer, a medical missionary in French Equatorial Africa.

One of the other statements said the danger of nuclear war between Russia and the United States is greater than ever. Such a war could be averted only if the two nations renounce nuclear arms, he said.

Weapon Tests

The third statement called upon the United States and Britain to follow Russia's proclaimed end to nuclear weapon tests unless other nations continue them. Dr. Schweitzer said no power has the right to test nuclear weapons if they are harmful to future generations. They are harmful, he said a year ago in a similar appeal for a test ban to prevent worldwide radiation damage.

Schweitzer rejected the western position that a summit meeting must be preceded by extended lower-level negotiations to set up an agreement.

"It would be fitting," he declared, "if those who have the authority to take the responsibility, and not those who have only nominal authority and who cannot move an inch from their instructions, would confer together."

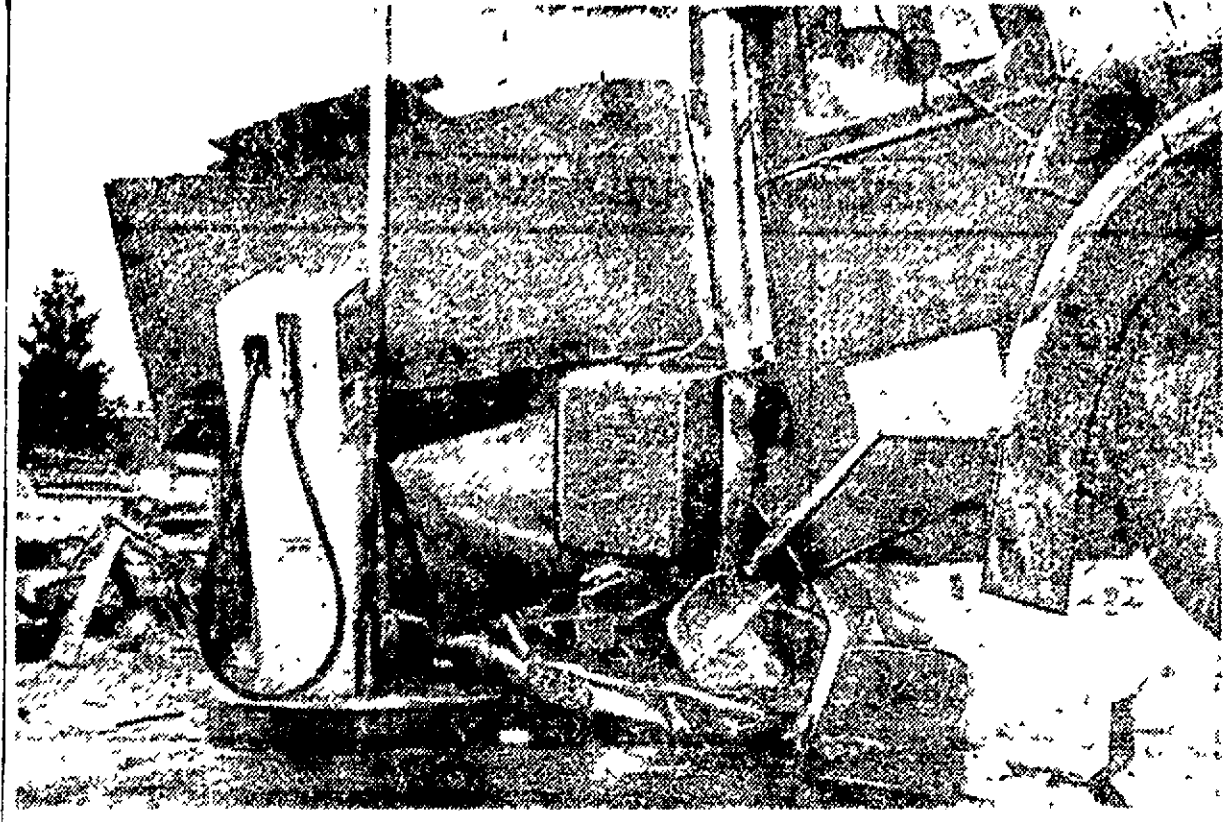

Other nations directly interested, such as Atlantic alliance members, could send representatives to the meeting, he suggested.

Strange Story Leads to Fighting in Discovery of Slayings

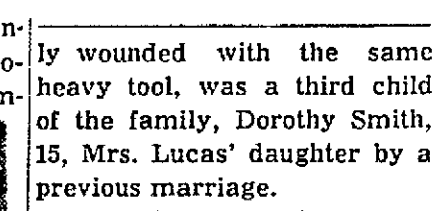

Husband Asks for Wife's Pay; Police Check, Find Wife, Two Children Dead

Roanoke, Va. — Mrs. Connie Lucas, 48, worked at a Roanoke laundry and, her employer said, never missed a day "unless something was awfully wrong."

Yesterday Mrs. Lucas didn't show up for work. In the afternoon, Grover Lucas, 49, appeared at the laundry and asked for her paycheck.

To Harry Gray, superintendent of the laundry, Lucas' story "didn't sound quite right." Gray's suspicions ultimately led police last night to the Lucas apartment, a second-story walkup in the Roanoke slums.

There, after smashing down a locked door and breaking a window to gain entrance, they found the bodies of Mrs. Lucas, her son Dennis, 9, and her daughter Mildred, 11. All had been bludgeoned to death with a pickaxe. Writing on the bedroom floor, critically wounded with the same heavy tool, was a third child of the family, Dorothy Smith, 15, Mrs. Lucas' daughter by a previous marriage.

Three Counts

Lucas was charged on three counts of murder and one of felonious assault. Two neighbors of the family found the unemployed car repairman sitting on an iron railing a half block from the apartment and took him to police.

Officers had to fend off an angry crowd outside the Lucas apartment before finally taking Lucas into custody and hustling him into a patrol car which sped him to jail. Some in the throng, estimated at 350 persons, tried to attack the accused man.

Police said Mrs. Lucas and her three children apparently were attacked Sunday afternoon. All were bludgeoned about the head.

Police questioned Lucas for 90 minutes but would not say what he told them.

Proximity of Police Fails to Stop Thefts

Los Angeles — Appliance Dealer Kenneth Speero was obviously unhappy.

"What's a man going to do?" he asked yesterday. "Watch his merchandise with a shotgun all night?"

Last April 6, he related, burglars broke into the rear of his store and took $7,000 worth of television sets. The next night they broke into the front section, taking another $2,000 worth of sets.

Early Monday, a brick was hurled through the window and two more sets were taken.

As Speero talked, he kept looking diagonally across the street. There stands the Wilshire division police station.

Chase Breeds Tragedy

Cleveland — An 8-year-old boy, Joseph Kusmierczyk, hid under a freight car to escape when a group of bullies chased him yesterday. A locomotive pushed the car, and the boy's hand was mangled, police said. At St. Alexis' hospital, a medical spokesman said the boy's hand would have to be amputated at the wrist.

These are the victims of the brutal slaying in Roanoke, Va. Dead are Mrs. Connie Lucas, top left, Mildred Lucas, top right, and Dennis Lucas, lower left. In serious condition is Dorothy Smith, lower right, Mrs. Lucas' daughter by a former marriage. (AP Wirephoto)

Cuba Continues

Claim Rebels Have Little Chance to Escape Encirclement

Havana — Fighting continued in Cuba's rebellious Oriente province last night as government forces engaged an insurgent band in the Jotura sector, killing eight. The army said three loyalists were wounded in the clash.

An army communiqué said a great quantity of rebel arms had been captured and that the main group of rebel leader Fidel Castro's force in the Sierra Maestra range has little chance of breaking through the encircling forces of President Fulgencio Batista.

The air force dropped thousands of pamphlets over the area promising freedom for rebels who surrender. The communiqué said hundreds have given up in the past three days.

After days of comparative quiet, dispatches from Oriente said rebels clashed earlier yesterday with troops in five villages around Alto Sonde, 20 miles northeast of Santiago. No casualty figures were given.

Bombs Thrown

Five persons were wounded in Santiago when bombs were thrown at students answering an appeal from teachers to return to classes.

In the western province of Pinar Del Rio government troops killed four rebels and captured 18 near the area where an estimated 50 insurgents landed April 12 in an abortive attempt to widen the rebellion. The government already had claimed to have captured or killed most of the invaders.

Doerfer Urges Radio, TV to Editorialize on Public Controversies

Los Angeles — Chairman John C. Doerfer of the federal communications commission today urged radio and television stations to make broader use of their right to editorialize on public controversies.

Doerfer, in an address prepared for the annual meeting of the National Association of Broadcasters, said a broadcaster who editorializes must, as a user of publicly owned radio frequencies, also offer airtime for opposing points of view.

Cardinal Stritch in Excellent Condition After Arm Amputation

Pope's Private Physician Finds Prelate Sleeping Well, No Fever

Rome — Samuel Cardinal Stritch was reported in excellent condition today. He had a good night after the amputation of his right arm.

The private physician of Pope Pius XII, Prof. Riccardo Galazzi-Lisi, who witnessed the operation so he could report to the pope, visited Cardinal Stritch early today for another report. He found the cardinal had no fever and was sleeping well.

The pope received in special audience the two Chicago doctors who flew to Rome Sunday for consultation. They are Cardinal Stritch's personal physician, Dr. Ralph Bergen, and heart specialist John Keeley.

Feels Sensations

The cardinal told visitors last night, "I know they're not there, but I feel sensations in the tips of the fingers of my right hand."

The 70-year-old Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago smiled as if realizing that such sensations are common for persons who have lost limbs.

The cardinal's right arm was amputated above the elbow yesterday after a blood clot developed in the lower arm and gangrene set in. His doctors said he was recovering quickly from the operation and should be out of bed in two or three days.

Other Visitors

Among those who visited the prelate late yesterday were the Italian surgeons who performed the amputation, the two Chicago doctors, Msgr. Roman R. Atkieski, auxiliary bishop of the Milwaukee diocese, and Msgr. Patrick Hayes, rector of Chicago's Holy Name Cathedral; who flew over to be with the ailing cardinal.

Cardinal Stritch was stricken while en route to Rome to become propret of the church's Congregation for the Propagation of the Faith. The congregation controls the church's missionary activities around the world, and the post is the highest in the Vatican hierarchy ever awarded an American.

New Evidence Turned Up in Double Death

Ambridge, Pa. — Authorities report that state police ballistic test show the bullets that killed two men in an auto ambush were fired from a rifle found in the home of Arthur G. Schuck, 41, a Baden electrician.

Schuck was taken into custody shortly after the shootings early Sunday at nearby Economy. A woman in the auto with the two victims was wounded.

Beaver county Dist. Atty. Richard Steward termed last night's report on the ballistics test "mighty significant."

Steward said a decision will be made soon on the possibility of filing charges against Schuck.

Schuck, who has been questioned at length since being taken into custody, told police he has no knowledge of being near the scene of the shooting. Police quoted him as saying he was "too drunk to remember."

Killed in the ambush were William E. Engel, 41, owner of the Ambridge Tool and Machine company, and Vincent Quigley, 34, a bartender. Miss Angelina Pugliano, 33, of Fair Oaks, was wounded.

The shooting occurred as Engel backed his auto into a driveway a few doors from Quigley's home. Steward said he believes the shootings were a case of mistaken identity.

The gunman fired five shots at close range into Engel's car. Miss Pugliano was hit in the face, head and back. Her condition was listed as fair at Rochester General hospital.

Head of Chicago Art Institute Quits for New Post

Chicago — Daniel Cotton Rich, director of the Art Institute of Chicago since 1945, has resigned to become director of the Worcester, Mass., art museum.

Rich, associated with the institute for 30 years, said his resignation in no way related to the recent controversy over showing Sir Winston Churchill's paintings at the institute. Rich and the institute's trustees rejected Churchill's exhibition, saying his work did not rate as professional.

Other art groups, however, sought to have the exhibit but were unsuccessful because of previous commitments.

Rich, who is 54, said he had accepted the post at Worcester on March 31, long before the decision was made on the Churchill paintings. He said the Worcester post would give him increased opportunities for research, writing and travel.

He will replace the late Francis Henry Taylor who died in 1957 and will assume his new duties about Sept. 15.

Everett D. Graff, president of the art institute, said Rich's resignation was accepted with reluctance.

Loving God Is Life's Purpose, Pastor Declares

Pursuit of Truth Leads to Divine, Rev. Alton States

The entire purpose of man's life is to express his love for God, the Rev. Ralph Taylor Alton, pastor of First Methodist church, declared in his Sunday morning sermon.

"Certainly if you love someone with all your heart, you want a continuing sense of companionship with Him. And even when you are physically separated from Him, you will want to know you constantly are in His thoughts and He in yours."

"To want the company of God not just when we need something from Him but continually in all of the experiences of life is what this expression in the commandment means. It prompts us to desire to do nothing that could not be done in God's presence, to seek first the sense of fellowship with God that makes us aware that our life is shared with God."

Part Of Living
Love of God must be a part of man's living, the Rev. Dr. Alton went on, and love of God must be the expression of man's energies. Love does not exist where God is taken for granted and there still are too many people who don't understand the relationship of their Christian commitment to their occupation in the so-called secular world, the minister asserted.

God lays claim to whatever strength man has, the pastor continued, which points out that there is no business or occupation in existence that doesn't demand an ethics of behavior. But the faith to which Christ called men was not a blind faith for He wanted men to love God intelligently, the Rev. Dr. Alton maintained.

Know Good Things
"That process can be defined as the use of the mind God has given us to know good things and to seek always to understand what is true. As St. Paul admonished us: 'Whatever things are true, honorable, just, pure, lovely, gracious, think about these things.'"

"If you think of your mind as a library, you could ask yourself what kind of material fills the shelves of your mind. Is it material that would indicate your love of the things of God? He who loves God with his mind never need fear truth, for truth is of God, so the lover of God may pursue truth wherever it

Blazing Buffalo Sets Fire to 100 Oil Workers' Huts

Teheran —A blazing buffalo stampeded through the southern section of the oil refinery town of Abadan Sunday, setting fire to 100 workers' huts.

It was the sixth big fire in the Abadan area during April and the third during the week-end. The government says two of them were set by arsonists, and press reports say the buffalo also was deliberately set afire.

Last Wednesday a cat was sprayed with kerosene, set ablaze and turned loose in the bazaar to start a fire. The other fire attributed to arsonists destroyed five unattended sailboats near Abadan Saturday night.

Three other fires have taken place in the actual production area. One resulted in the explosion of almost 10 million gallons of crude oil April 10. Another set an oil well ablaze April 19. The third set off an explosion Saturday which also burst water pipes in the refinery and doused the fire.

The Abadan oil fields and refinery are operated by an international consortium of eight companies on behalf of the National Iranian Oil company. The fields originally were private property but were brought under government ownership during the nationalistic regime of former Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadagh.

Appleton Boys Win Rifle Match

Charles Holtz and James Strobl, both of Appleton, were winners in Wisconsin rifle championship competition in Madison.

The boys are members of the YMCA rifle team and practiced at an Appleton indoor range. They also were top scorers in a state rifle match sponsored by a Milwaukee newspaper.

Their school team has won the state competition two years in a row.

Holtz and Strobl attend Northwestern Military and Naval academy, Lake Geneva.

leads him. It will lead him only to God.

"So, if you would love God, hear Jesus say to you that it's no good unless you love Him all the way — 'with your heart, with all your soul and with all your strength and with all your mind,'" the minister concluded.

Polio Protection Need in Areas of High Standards

Washington — The protection of polio vaccine is needed in countries with the highest sanitary standards, the National Academy of Sciences (NAS) was told Monday.
Dr. John R. Paul of Yale University said in a report to the academy's spring meeting.
"In countries with high sanitary standards, polio is generally reported locally as a relatively uncommon disease of infants."
"In some contrast is the pattern in countries with high sanitary standards. Polio generally appears there in the form of periodic epidemics; the average incidence of this disease is greater; and the patients are apt to be of school age or older."
He said polio is apt to be a much more severe disease in adults than in infants.

said, "without increasing the income tax one penny for anyone in Wisconsin."
Democrats now are trying to make excuses for active opposition to budget and revenue bills by saying they cast votes against parts of the program, Thomson charged.
Other speakers were James Onderdonk and Ray Dittmore, two declared candidates for senate; Claude Jasper, state GOP chairman; Mrs. Ruth Murray, head of the state women's organization; Mrs. Marian Fox, national committee woman; Atty. Gen. Stewart Honeck; Secretary of State Robert Zimmerman; State Treasurer Mrs. Dena Smith and State Sen. Leo P. O'Brien, Green Bay, who is seeking endorsement for lieutenant governor.
O'Brien repeated that he regards Knowles as one of the most able men in government but he said the party needs a rough and brash fighter in a campaign this fall. Knowles, once became angry with him and called him a "shanty Irish man," O'Brien recalled. This was what the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy was and is what the Republicans need this fall, O'Brien maintained.
Two resolutions offered by Outagamie county were approved. They called for a reevaluation of state functions to prevent any increase in taxes and to adopt the conclusions of the Hoover commission.
Appleton people named to committees for the state conventions are Mrs. John Stevens, Greenville; R. C. Van Sistine, Appleton; and Joseph Weyers, Freedom.

During his part of the attack on "labor bosses," Steinfeld linked Proxmire's election last August to financial support he said came from the state CIO and Charles Schultz. "Sen. Proxmire said some time back he got a divorce from Charlie Schultz, but in my business I know it takes two to get a divorce. Do you think after he invested over $250,000, Schultz is going to get a divorce?" Steinfeld asked.
Thomson Record
Thomson said his administration can run on a record of working for state industrial expansion, providing more money for state schools and colleges and providing an increase of $60 million more in state aid to municipalities. This was accomplished, he

Officers Speak On Three Major Road Hazards

Safety Conference Hears Discussion by Enforcement People.

Three major types of highway hazards were discussed in panel talks by four enforcement officers at the Outagamie Citizens Safety conference at the court house Monday.
Representing the county traffic patrol were Capt. Ronald Decker and Sgt. Lowell Veitch. On the panel for Appleton police were Capt. Harry Salzman and Sgt. John Gosch.
"Whether a person has had one drink or a number of drinks, the liquor breath is immediately detectable," said Sgt. Veitch. "Contrary to popular opinion, liquor does not stimulate, it does not increase the mental alertness. It has a depressing effect. It slows down reaction time considerably, especially after one has several drinks."
He explained the use of the drunkometer in determining whether drivers are under the influence of alcohol while operating a vehicle.
Speed Is Killer
Speed is one of the greatest killers we have on the highways, contended Decker. "Few people realize that it takes about one-third of the time normally required to stop to decide what to do when suddenly faced with a hazard. When you decide to put on the brake, it takes a little time to put

Baby Suffocates In Racine Home

Beloit — Steven Kopplin, 15-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kopplin, suffocated Monday when a fire filled the family's home with smoke.
Mrs. Kopplin said she left Steven in his crib when she went next door to visit neighbors. She told authorities she noticed the lights in her home growing dim and rushed back to see what was wrong.
She discovered the fire, Mrs. Kopplin said, and tried to force her way into the home by breaking a window in the child's bedroom but could not climb in. Firemen were unable to revive the child.
Damage was estimated at $600 to $1,000. Fire department officials said the flames apparently got their start in the living room sofa.

Gosch pointed out the main Appleton shopping area is concentrated in about eight or ten blocks, with the result that the traffic pressure is very heavy. This creates problems you do not have in some other communities. He stated pedestrians should cross walk only when the light says "walk."
The conference elected the following as governing board members: William Van Hout, Kimberly; William Morrissey, Hortonville; Gordon Bubolz, Appleton; Lawrence Rebman, Bear Creek; Cliff Braeger, Greenville; R. C. Van Sistine, Appleton; and Joseph Weyers, Freedom.

Say Shortage Of Teachers To Continue

Many Graduates in Spring Will Take Jobs With Industry

Washington — Colleges will graduate 110,000 new teachers this spring, but the teacher shortage next fall will still be critical.

That was the gist of a report issued by the National Education Association (NEA) after a state-by-state survey.

The nation's public schools now need 220,000 more teachers, the report said. Only about 85,000 of this spring's qualified graduates are expected to enter the teaching field. That leaves a shortage of about 135,000.

Grade School

The number of graduates qualified to teach in grade school is estimated at 44,000, the same as last year. The number qualified for teaching needed, the NEA said, to relieve overcrowding, serve in high school is estimated at about 5,000 more than last year.

On the basis of past records, less qualified teachers.

the NEA reckons that about 73 per cent of the qualified graduates will actually enter the teaching profession. Many potential women teachers will get married and start raising families. The military will grab off a number of potential men teachers. Higher paying jobs in private industry will lure both men and women into other fields.

The report, several months in the making, didn't go into the impact that the current business recession might have on the teacher shortage. Most educators feel, however, that if the recession should continue into the late summer or fall, the teaching profession will get many spring graduates who might otherwise be lost to industry.

Pushed Into Teaching

During the past five years, the nation's colleges have graduated more than 100,000 students who could teach, but decided not to. Some of these, too, might be pushed into teaching by business conditions.

The estimate of 220,000 needed teachers included 95,000 to replace those retiring or leaving the field. The others are expected to be needed, the NEA said, to relieve overcrowding, serve in high school is estimated at about 5,000 more than last year.

On the basis of past records, less qualified teachers.

Repeater Delinquents

We noted with something akin to shock the disclosure by the state department of public welfare about the astonishing number of juvenile delinquents who are discharged from the state school for boys after their legal terms have expired, and revert to delinquent and criminal activities and thereupon are "graduated" to the state reformatory or the state prison.

Within ten years after the discharge of such young boys from the institution at Waukesha, up to a third of them find themselves in an adult detention institution "and the great majority of these will have been convicted of a criminal offense," the report observed.

This is a disappointing statistic indeed, and should compel the closest study of the welfare administration and its advisory board.

These juvenile institutions are costly, in fact are among the highest in per capita cost among the welfare institutions the people of Wisconsin support. Here is the proof that much of these expensive budgets is sheer waste—from the viewpoint of rehabilitation which is their purpose.

We must imagine that the administrators of these programs are as sorry about these revelations as we are astonished to see them put in such bald form.

Considering them we must bear in mind the qualifications. The institution at Waukesha for boys, as everyone has admitted, is inadequate in many essential respects and will in fact soon be abandoned for a new and modern school to be set in the rural hills of the kettle moraine country in Sheboygan county. As we have observed the operations of the juvenile courts of the state, the most difficult cases are committed to the school. Most of these boys are the kind that the layman might regard as incorrigible. It is perhaps not too surprising that in a year or a year and a half the men and women at Waukesha are not always able to erase the results of environmental and other influences that brought the child before a magistrate.

But yet we must find the causes for delinquency, as we must find the causes for rehabilitative program failure in the institutions. This is a field in which the experts are confounded, but it strikes us that one clue may be found in another section of the department's statistical report. A significant proportion of these boys at Waukesha came from broken homes. Many of them return to broken homes, or environment otherwise inadequate, and thereupon revert to their old anti-social habits. We have contrived a useful foster home program for other public dependents. We may wonder whether it could not be adapted to these delinquent parolees.

Surely "graduation" to the reformatory or the prison is a costly result, for the boy, for society, and for that patient taxpayer who is the buttress of these expensive and all too often futile institutional programs.

Change in Unemployment Philosophy

Congressman John Byrnes of this district, a long-time member of the House Ways and Means committee, has violently opposed a new unemployment compensation bill recently reported out favorably by the committee. The opposition, which on the floor of the House might be strong enough to defeat the bill or at least send it back to committee, is well taken. The bill is not one for unemployment compensation but purely and simply an effort to turn intelligent unemployment payments into vote-buying gimmicks on the national level.

Of course such attempts are nothing new in politics. Many bills are voted upon favorably merely to impress the voters back home when defeat of the bill is assured. But this switch in the method of unemployment compensation changes the whole idea of the legislation. And anyone who believes that, come prosperity it will be repealed, hasn't studied the history of bureaucracy.

What Others are Saying

Appleton Man's Efforts Praised

From The Boscobel Dial

The Dial was recently placed on the mailing list of an energetic gentleman at Appleton named F. H. Jenkins, who is president of Azco, Inc. Mr. Jenkins was interested in a news story we ran several months ago about a Civil Defense speaker who came to Boscobel to give an address.

Jenkins has been trying desperately to organize a "National Survival" movement in the United States. From the tremendous bulk of mailings he has been getting out to congressional and industrial leaders and others it appears almost like a one-man fight.

In reading over Jenkins' material one feels as though he were harking back to the time of Noah, when the country played while Noah hammered away at his ark. Jenkins believes sincerely, irrevocably and fearfully that America is in desperate danger of being wiped off the face of the earth by atomic attack and his appeal is to Americans to begin preparing on the national level to help themselves.

In a communication he sent to the Public Service Advertising Council in New York, Jenkins asked that the council promote such slogans as:

1. Never go to bed without a full tank of gas in your car.

2. Never let the oil tank in your home get less than half full.

3. Is the trunk of your car at least half full of non-perishable supplies plus at least five gallons of drinking water? Don't forget toilet paper and tissues for junior.

4. Sleeping bags and extra clothing for every member of every family.

5. Every member of every family to be able to hunt, fish and live out-of-doors and have the equipment and knowledge to do so.

6. Every member of every family own a gun and know how to use it.

"Who knows," says Jenkins, "these things might even generate a little business. . . Money in the bank isn't going to help you in a survival situation."

Nobody should discredit Jenkins' efforts without digesting the thought embodied in this paragraph from an article on "Atomic Survival" in Life magazine:

"Unfortunately, too many people seem to believe that if war comes some magic will intervene to save them, and that they are not personally required to make troublesome and expensive preparations on their own behalf. . . Let us hope they are right and that evolutionists did not have them in mind when they speculated that war is a eugenic process which eliminates those without a special will to live."

When the Irish Came to Wisconsin

From a bulletin of the State Historical Society

The Irish came to Wisconsin in the greatest numbers during the swell of immigration after the potato famines of the 1830's and 1840's. Starvation stalked the Emerald Isle and increasing harshness in the Irish land system drove thousands of Irish to American shores. By 1850 the Irish made up over 19 per cent of the state's total foreign-born population, topped in numbers only by the Germans.

At first the Irish settled along the lake shore region in Milwaukee, Waukesha, Ozaukee, Sheboygan and Washington counties. One stream of immigrants headed for southwestern Wisconsin to work the lead mines near Benton, Shullsburg (known then as Dublin) and Mineral Point.

By the 1860's half of the counties in the state each contained 300 or more Irish, with the majority in Milwaukee. The Irish gave their names to dozens of settlements: O'Connellville, Irish Ridge, Erin Prairie, Irish Diggings, Erin, Emerald and Kildare townships.

Daylight Saving Versus Good Health

Editor, Post-Crescent

Those people who were worried about their children's teeth some time back, what do they think now of our 6-year-old youngsters who have to rise at 5 a. m. in order to be at the bus stop at 7 a. m. which is only 6 o'clock. How can a child get a decent breakfast as such an ungodly hour? And what about their mental health after such a day by coming home tired, listless, and no ambition for lessons?

Most of us sacrifice their health for the selfish whims of those who profess to be Christians and are anything but—when they could gain that one hour by going to work one hour earlier, as was done in smaller cities. Let us repeal this law. The teachers of our schools can help us. Thanks, The Mothers of 6-year Youngsters Appleton

These Days

Sokolsky Watches Truman Work at Political Meeting and Enjoys Him

BY GEORGE SOKOLSKY
(Copyright, 1958)

Two ex-presidents are rolling about the United States and both are more popular today than when sitting in the White House.

Herbert Hoover has grown into the most beloved citizen of the country. He now is in the hospital, enjoying a glorious grumpiness, but at 83 recovering from a gall bladder operation with the ease and the will-to-live of a young fellow. He recently has been engaged in writing five books, one of which now is ready for the book stores, "The Ordeal of Woodrow Wilson."

To watch him work is a rare privilege, for he digs like a young fellow writing his M.A. thesis; he writes on lined yellow paper in long-hand and he revises draft after draft. Herbert Hoover abhors ghosts which is probably the reason for his enormous literary output. In writing, the rule must be, "do it yourself." Ghosts clog the works.

I recently attended a dinner of Tammany hall, in New York county, over which these days Carmine DeSapio presides. The principal speaker was Harry Truman, who at 74, traipses about the country, making speeches, taking publicized walks and doing politics for his party. He is a beloved leader. Nobody needs to agree with any man to love him. When a Democratic audience sees Harry Truman, they see a spunky little guy who fights his way to the kind of political and personal victory that Democrats like and they show it.

Harry Truman's influence over his party increases as he grows older. Therein, he differs from Herbert Hoover who, in his old age, has come to be regarded as beyond partisanship. One cannot imagine Herbert Hoover telling the boys how to lick the Democrats. Harry, on the other hand, gets down to the sidewalks and gives the enemy hell from start to finish with a fervor expected from a young one running for local office. If Harry Truman emphasizes the importance of the plain and simple people, it is because he is certain that he has never graduated from Independence, Mo., of which he regards Kansas City and probably the rest of the world as a suburb.

Herbert Hoover and Harry Truman are friends. At any rate, they get along with each other better than they do with President Eisenhower, who has, more or less, snubbed or ignored them both.

Harry Truman has been shown no courtesy since Eisenhower has become president, which is bad manners on the president's part, no matter how you look at it. Harry Truman, when he was president, extended due courtesies to Herbert Hoover, appointed him to important consultative and exploratory tasks, and backed him valiantly on the recommendations of the Hoover reports.

Sokolsky Liked Him

Perhaps, it is customary in the army folkways that when an old general retires, his successors ignore his existence. It is not so customary in politics where a handshake and a smile are permissible even among political enemies who may like each other or not, according to personal taste. True, President Eisenhower continued the Hoover commission but gave it none of the ardent support that Truman did. Besides, there is a frigidity about the White House, possibly emanating from Sherman Adam's office, which would normally chill such a person as Herbert Hoover. It put icicles

Looking Backward

Work of Art Done in Worsted

75 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of May 3, 1879.

Conspicuous among the adornments and attractions at the Odd Fellows anniversary celebration was the magnificent work of art by Mrs. A. Seidmore.

"Rebekah at the Well," a mammoth picture in worsted occupied 15 months of that lady's time to diligently produce. Except for a few productions exhibited at the Centennial, it is the largest and in all respects the most finished piece of artistic skill and beauty that we have seen in our whole lifetime and brings Mrs. Seidmore prominently before the world as an artist.

It is not our purpose to speak minutely of its beauty; it must be seen to be appreciated. Those who have not yet seen it and desire to do so, should visit Mrs. Seidmore's parlors soon because the picture soon will be placed on exhibition in the Chicago Art Gallery and it is probable that it will not ever be returned here.

Appleton may well be proud of her Woman Artist. In that, as in all other things, our city claims front rank with all her sister cities in the Badger State.

GOP Caucus Meetings Marked by Gloom

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The attentive on-looker finds the tenor of the current series of Republican party district rallies a strange one indeed.

There is a pervading atmosphere of gloom, even of fear, of a defensive spirit that has rarely before been encountered in a party which has won most of the elections in this state for the last two decades.

The attendance is fair to good—not as heavy as in the years of party prosperity—but somewhat better than some of the fearful party leaders had privately anticipated when the meeting schedules were made. But there is little of the spirit of gaiety and the vigor and optimism that used to flavor the caucuses and conventions of a party which was in the saddle and knew it was overwhelmingly favored to stay there.

THE SIDELIGHTS

There are facets to the proceedings, moreover, that can only be regarded as remarkable to the observer who remembers a procession of these events down through the years.

The almost morbid preoccupation with the power and the resources of the opposing forces is one example.

The denunciation by name of opposing politicians and Democratic party leaders, contrary to the usual practice that calls for avoidance of any free publicity for the enemy, is another.

The free praise for the skills and the energies of the opposition is yet another.

At each of these caucuses lately such leaders as Chairman Claude Jasper of the state committee and Mrs. Ruth Murray, head of the women's wing of the party, have spoken almost with admiration of the techniques and the gimmicks of the CIO-PAC organization.

Jasper will observe that a particular CIO pamphlet is "pretty effective stuff."

Mrs. Murray will speak with angry envy of the size and the vigor of the election headquarters staffs the Milwaukee unions can turn out when needed.

Paraphrasing, it might be suggested that the CIO strategists could strike for a raise in their salaries and fees on the basis of the testimonials they are getting from the Republicans—who ought to be expert witnesses of their worth.

THE PRIVATE TALK

Almost as illuminating about the state of mind of the party is the private talk of the campaign workers and some of the candidates.

Almost to a man they are exchanging gloomy forecasts and observations.

It is a bit of irony, incidentally, that one of the candidates who must be ranked as an amateur and a beginner, having made only one campaign thus far, is among the most effective in trying to dispel the self-consciousness and doubt that prevails in the party.

Robert C. Zimmerman, the secretary of state, reminds that the party is in possession of the overwhelming majority of the state and local government offices of Wisconsin.

Things can't be so bad, he seems to be saying, when two thirds of the legislature, 70 per cent of the congressional seats from Wisconsin, about 95 per cent of the courthouse offices and all of the state constitutional offices are held by Republicans.

But it doesn't do much good. Something is lacking, in the soul of this once powerful, confident and sure political party. It badly needs inspiration at this late date of a crucial campaign year.

Haise was elected treasurer and succeeded Pauline Gaertner.

A new recreation hall at Chalk Hills Girl Scout camp near Wausaukee had been started. The construction activities were going on near the waterfront, downstream from the dining hall. The building was to have a large fireplace and facilities for indoor games, dramatics and a library.

Sylvester Strobel, Appleton, was elected executive director of study clubs for the Marquette university sodality, Milwaukee. By his election, Strobel automatically became a member of the central committee, executive governing board of sodality activities.

Louis J. Howman, Neenah, pension administrator for Winnebago county, was to discuss his department at an open meeting sponsored by the Neenah-Menasha Council of Social Agencies.

La Verne Kniebusch was elected president of the Women's Teachers Bowling League. She succeeded Leone Robichaud. Esther

Gym Grades to Count Toward Class Rating

Board of Education Satisfied With Teachers' Explanation

Appleton High school students will continue to be marked in physical education and the grades will be used in computing their overall scholastic average.

After hearing an explanation of how grades are determined and the reasons for including the grades in scholastic ratings, board of education members Monday night expressed approval of the practice. High school Principal H. H. Helble and a group of physical education teachers met with the board.

The question of including grades in figuring scholastic ratings arose because some board members, particularly Mrs. Myrl Davis, felt a student might be physically uncoordinated and receive a low grade which could possibly lower the scholastic rating enough so the student would miss out on a scholarship.

'Can't Happen' This can't happen, according to the physical education instructors, because a student is graded on how he works up to his own ability and not in relation to the rest of the students.

Other factors in grading are participation, learning game rules, taking showers and the general attitude of the student.

toward the class, the teachers' said. This is the first year physical education grades are being used in figuring scholastic ratings. In explaining why the change was made, Helble cited the following reasons: In September, 1957, the National Association of Secondary School Principals and the National Association of College Registrars recommended that all high schools adopt a uniform marking system. Most schools count all marks earned, which made Appleton out of line with the national practice and the recommendation.

Many senior students loaf in physical education classes because they felt "the mark doesn't count," by counting the mark, instructors feel the students will work up to their abilities. Physical education is required by state law and the teachers felt that by not counting the grades, they would subliminally contribute to defeating the intent of the law.

The question of counting the grades received for summer school courses—especially typing—also was discussed. Herbert A. Simon, who teaches typing in summer school, reported attendance and proficiency increased greatly when they started counting the marks and failed students who did not attend summer school courses after signing up for them.

The school board took no action to change the procedure, but Supt. of Schools John P. Mann said he was going to look into the matter further.

614 Cars Sold During 8-Day Promotion

According to the final report on the 8-day You Auto Buy promotion, 614 cars have been sold in the Fox Cities area during that period.

Of this total, 219 were new automobiles and 395 were used cars. The new car sale average was 27 cars a day. In 1957, new cars sold averaged 14 a day. This represents an average increase of nearly 100 per cent on new car sales.

Average used car sales figures for last year are not available.

Appleton Firm Low Bidder on Street Project

State Opens Bids For Richmond, Highway 41 Jobs

Madison — The Wiesler Construction company, Inc., Appleton, today submitted the apparent low bid of $270,317 for widening and bituminous surfacing of N. Richmond street in Appleton.

The bids were examined by the state highway commission, which will award contracts to the low bidder. Such contracts need the signature of the governor before becoming official.

Six bids on the reconstruction project were opened by the commission.

Second low bid was entered by the Murphy Construction company, Black Creek, for $273,616. Fox Valley Construction company, Appleton, had the third low bid of $274,650.

The offers were for work on 1.7 miles of N. Richmond street (Highway 47) from W. College avenue to Highway 41.

Grading Work

The Boulanger Construction company, Casco, was apparent low bidder for three miles of grading work on Highway 41 in Winnebago county between Highway 150 and the north county line. The bid was $276,902.

Contracts calling for highway improvement work in Calumet, Outagamie and Winnebago counties were signed by the governor Monday. Bids were let earlier.

Contracts included: Calumet — Grading and base course on 1.1 miles of County Trunk J, with Calumet county for $20,677.

Outagamie — Two bridges on U.S. 41, with Zachek Construction company, Denmark, for $109,822.

Winnebago — Two bridges on U.S. 41 with Zachek construction for $215,570.

'Mistletoe Green' Tile

Pick Brown Brick for Huntley Grade School

A rough textured Ohio brown brick was selected for the exterior of the new northeast Huntley elementary school by the board of education Monday night. A contrasting 'mistletoe' green glazed tile will be used around the main entrance and the kindergarten rooms.

The school board also chose a smooth iron-spot brick of near ivory color for the wainscoting in the halls and the assembly room. A somewhat darker smooth brick was chosen for the wainscoting in the classrooms.

The exterior brick will be the 12-inch Roman type and the interior brick regular 8-inch size. The prices of both inside and outside brick are within the $75 per thousand limit set in the specifications. The exterior brick will be $68 per thousand and the interior $73.50 per thousand. This means the school board will get credit of about $2,100 on the exterior brick with about 300,000 required and something less on the interior brick.

Both are manufactured by Metropolitan Brick, Inc., Canton, Ohio. All the selections were recommended by Architect George Narovec.

Award Contract

The school board also awarded a contract for replacing glass block in about 35 windows at the senior high school to William Tiede and Sons of Appleton. Tiede's bid of $2,925 for the project was over $800 lower than the next low bidder.

The work in the shower rooms will be done over the summer. Other bidders were St. Aubin Construction company, Little Chute; P. G. Miron Construction company, Appleton; A. W. Jeske Construction company, Oshkosh, and the Wisconsin Building Renovation company, Edgerton. Other summer work planned by the school maintenance staff includes the remodeling of McKinley school to make it a completely elementary school. Plans for the work have not been drawn but $22,900 was put in the budget for the project. Director of Business Affairs, William R. Knuth said most of the work would be done by the schools' own crews.

Begin Building

Knuth told the board the Hoffman company, Appleton, has already begun to lay footings for the Huntley school. The contracts haven't been officially awarded because the city hasn't sold the bonds yet. He said he had received word from City Clerk Elden Broehm that the money should be available by June 1.

Supt. of Schools John P. Mann reported the hiring of three new teachers. They are Mrs. Dorothea M. Bennett, an intermediate teacher graduating from Oshkosh in June; Jack A. Kollerjahn, an elementary teacher also graduating from Oshkosh in June, and Miss Ann Gerend, a French teacher graduating from St. Scholastica college in Duluth.

The school board rejected an invitation to hold some of its meetings next year in conjunction with PTA meetings at the various schools throughout the city. The invitation came from the public relations committee of the Appleton Education association.

Regular Meetings

The board agreed to invite any PTA group to come to its regular meetings and said it would hold them in the auditorium of Morgan school if the group was too large for the superintendent's office. They felt the facilities in the other schools weren't always suitable for a board meeting and that it would be inconvenient because all the records are at Morgan school. School board meetings are held the second and fourth Mondays of each month and are open to the public.

A request for the board to waive tuition fees for a student whose family moved to Kimberly for the second semester this year was denied. The student's father said he had sent two of his children to the Kimberly schools for the entire year even though he had lived in Appleton for the first semester. He said that if he had lived in Appleton all year, the Appleton school system would have had to provide them with an education. Because of this, he felt the tuition could be waived for the one older boy who wanted to finish high school here.

It is against school board policy to waive tuition for out-of-town students.

Hungry Burglar Jailed After He Admits Food Theft

Nelson A. Weeder, 22, 131 S. Oneida street, who was found hiding in Barry's Cafe, 210 N. Oneida, early Monday morning is being held in the county jail for a 2-week pre-sentence investigation.

Weeder this morning admitted to Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmiede that he broke into the cafe and stole some food. Asked why, Weeder said "I was tight."

Police found him crouched under a table in the restaurant with a wiener, bun and a few potato chips. He admitted taking some ham and rolls. He told police he cut several holes in a transom screen at the rear of the restaurant, then forced the transom open.

A passing Appleton patrolman noticed the screen off the transom at the rear of the bus station building and called for help. Weeder did not resist arrest, police said.

Divide Assets Of Defunct District 10

The Appleton board of education and the school boards of former District 10 and District 4 in the town of Grand Chute Monday night agreed to a division of $818.57 in assets belonging to District 10.

District 10 was divided last year with part of it attached to Appleton and part of it to District 4 which operates the Woodlawn school. According to law, the assets have to be divided in proportion to the amount of equalized valuation attached to each of the other districts.

Appleton got about 57 per cent of the money, $464.99, and District 4 got the remaining 43 per cent, $353.58. District 4 will have to pay a transportation bill for the part of District 10 attached to it.

Representing District 10 at the joint meeting at Morgan school were Martin Downs and Jack Rudolph. Attending from District 4 were William Gutdell, Donald Geer and Ervin Van Camp.

The Appleton school board accepted the check on behalf of the city and also took possession of the records of District 10. It will act as a depository for the records.

Bicycle Safety Month Planned During May

City Committee to Hold Special Day For Bike Owners

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna safety committee in cooperation with members of the teenage safety council are planning a bicycle safety program in May, according to C. H. Kemp, director of the committee.

The committee hopes to make children conscious of good driving habits while operating bicycles and to help them to be more courteous and better drivers after they get behind the wheel of an automobile.

Bicycle Day

Added incentive will be given the month-long campaign by a safe bicycle day to be held later in the month. On that day a committee will watch bicyclists coming from public and parochial schools throughout the city to ascertain which youngsters observe traffic laws and bicycle safety rules.

Both a boy and girl winner will be selected and will be rewarded just as the safe driver is awarded each year in the regular S-D campaign. This is a completely new idea and Kaukauna will be the first city to carry such a program, according to Kemp.

Complete plans for the day have not been worked out with the various schools but this will be handled by the city committee and the teenage council prior to the announcement of when the event is to take place.

The May campaign will open with members of the teenage council distributing 6-page booklets entitled, "The Bicyclist's Book of Rules." It contains traffic rules which apply to both motorists and bicyclists and rules which apply to bicycle owners alone.

A film on bicycle safety will be shown at the two public grade schools and talks will be given by county and local traffic officers. Plans for parochial schools are still indefinite.

Rotary Club to Entertain Wives Wednesday Night

Kaukauna — The Wednesday noon luncheon meeting of the Kaukauna Rotary club will not be held this week as the organization will hold its annual "Ladies Night" program at 6 o'clock in the evening at the Elks clubrooms.

A dinner will open the affair after which special entertainment and a program have been arranged by James Barnbery, James Gustman and T. H. Boebel, members of the April program committee.

The event annually is a night of fun at which time Rotarians pay tribute to their wives. Special guests will also be invited to take part in the festivities.

Freshmen Track Teams To Meet at Kimberly

Kimberly — Freshmen tracksters of Kimberly High will have their first dual meet of the season at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon when they face Fox Valley Lutheran here.

Potential Students, Parents Invited to School Facilities

Kaukauna — Open house will be held Wednesday at the Outagamie County Teachers college, according to S. W. Ihlenfeldt, school principal.

Parents of potential students and the students themselves are particularly welcome, said the principal, as it will give school officials the opportunity to explain the advantages of the 2-year college course, show the facilities available at the school and give parents an idea of the training students receive.

Special entertainment and a recreational period is planned during the afternoon session for the benefit of visitors.

Protestant Exhibition One Of Busiest at World Fair

Brussels — One of the busiest pavilions at the 1958 world's fair is the Protestant exhibition.

The building of aluminum and glass stands at the geographical heart of the fair. Churches and believers from all over the world contributed $250,000 to its construction, but the idea sprang from a tiny group of Protestants in predominantly Catholic Belgium.

Working through the World Federation of Churches in Belgium, they secured the excellent location for the pavilion. At the head of the initial movement was Belgian Pastor Pieter Fagel, of Brussels.

"We are very pleased with our work," he said. "We are receiving hundreds of visitors from all over the world."

Designed by Architect Robert Kurtz, of Zurich, the exhibit pictures in numerous ways the work of the church.

One of its most popular exhibits shows old and new Bibles and the various ways the Protestant church worships.

Noon Services

The Protestant pavilion holds noon-day services. Every Friday night ecumenical hours are planned; leading church choirs and Protestant leaders will appear.

Sunday services are being held in the four official languages of the exhibit—German, French, English and Dutch. The circular chapel was designed for use by all denominations. Its only decoration is a large brass cross in keeping with the simple lines of the chapel.

The communion table is made of light oak with wrought iron feet. The windows are of specially made glass in five colors.

It's truly an international chapel, with the wrought iron from Belgium and Luxembourg, the aluminum walls from Britain, the aluminum window frames from Holland, the glass windows designed in Switzerland, the floor tiles from Italy and general decorations from Germany.

Meet Called Off Due to Weather

Kimberly — The track meet scheduled between Kimberly and New London Monday afternoon was called off because of bad weather.

Coach Gil Frank said the meet would not be re-scheduled because of the short spring season and other meets already in progress.

The girls were directed by makers will compete against Mrs. James VanDen Elsen, a Two Rivers and Menasha member of the Holy Name father-daughter team.

Water Heaters and Plumbing Require Care, Official Says

Appleton Plumbing Inspector Reginald Gloude-mans has warned householders against taking unnecessary chances in installing water heaters and other plumbing work.

"There is no great mystery about plumbing," said Gloude-mans, "everyone recognizes that the laws of gravity require waste water and sewage to run downhill. But, people sometimes fail to realize some of the dangers.

Gloude-mans recommends these two steps:

1. Make sure all fixtures are properly trapped and the sewerage system is properly vented.

Relief Valve Must Work

2. Have your water heater system checked thoroughly.

On water heaters, Gloude-mans said:

"If the aquastat (thermostat) fails to turn off the heat supply when the water is heated to a normal temperature the householder can be in serious trouble unless the heater is protected by a good pressure and temperature relief valve installed in the proper place.

"This relief valve must be in working order at all times. Perhaps the relief valve will never have to operate, but if it is needed and is not there the tank could explode, causing serious damage to property and even loss of life."

To protect the family, Gloude-mans urges an inspection by a licensed plumber.

"Except for repairing leaking faucets or removing stoppages, plumbing is not a do-it-yourself or handyman project," he says.

100 Gather for Alpha Chi Omega State Day Activity

A group of 100 Wisconsin Alpha Chi Omega actives and alumnae gathered Saturday in Appleton to observe State Day ceremonies at Lawrence campus. Activities of the all-day conference carried out the theme "Be Bright, Be Busy in the World of Alpha Chi Omega."

The day's program opened with a coffee hour from 10 to 12 o'clock at Colman hall, where a display of toys were exhibited. The toys, contributed by various alum units, are a national project of the sorority to aid cerebral palsy.

Convention goers toured Lawrence campus and attended a 1 o'clock luncheon at the Elks club. Mrs. Sy Janiak, Wauwatosa, toastmistress, introduced guest speaker, Mrs. Wilbur Payne, Winnetka, Ill., national alumnae

Miss Marian Rivenburg, senior at Lawrence college, was presented with a diamond award, given to an outstanding senior girl at Wisconsin and at Lawrence by the Milwaukee alumni chapter. Miss Rivenburg is a past president of Pan Hellenic at Lawrence.

The convention-goers who represented active chapters at the University of Wisconsin and Lawrence and alumnae residing throughout the state wore white ribbons Saturday to observe the installation of the 86th chapter of the sorority taking place the same day on a national campus.

The Fox Valley alum unit of the sorority will meet May 1 with Mrs. Joseph Breisch, 1301 S. Memorial drive.

Symphony Orchestra Delights Small, but Pleased Audience

The first long, light evening of the coming summer season evidently had its effect in keeping the numbers of the audience small at Sunday night's Lawrence Symphony Orchestra spring concert held at the College chapel. But those who chose to postpone their long summer-evening loafing to a later date were treated to an enjoyable evening of music making.

Conductor Kenneth Byler and the orchestra opened their final concert of the season with the Overture to the opera "Joseph" by Etienne-Nicholas Mehul. This work by the 19th century French comic opera composer provided Conductor Byler with the opportunity to develop a beautifully clean string line that ranged from a very delicate tone to a very robust tone. This delightful little classic overture with romantic overtones set the mood for the whole concert.

Program Contrast Contrasted with the romantic-classic overture in the first half of the program was the Music for Orchestra, Op. 9 by the contemporary Austrian composer Gottfried von Einem. Composer von Einem demands, first, a somber tone and then a percussive quality in this composition from the performers. Mr. Byler directed his group to an understanding of these qualities in this modern, rather complex work.

The after-intermission portion of the concert was devoted to the lyrical Symphony No. 2 in D major by the academic romanticist, Johannes Brahms. The late Olin Downes, music critic of the New York Times, compares this work with the loveliness of springtime, a view not consistent with George Bernard Shaw's comment of a "sentimental voluptuary" in writing of Brahms and his work.

The French horn work in the first movement and the oboe work in the third movement deserve special notation, for these two individual performers played with a fine sense of musicianship. Also, the woodwind ensemble work in the third movement sparkled with clarity and precision.

Symphonic Popularity The membership of the Lawrence Orchestra reflects the nation's growing interest in symphonic music, for its roster contains the names of townspeople from the Fox Valley community. Lawrence College students, as well as the students from the Conservatory of Music, however, as in all orchestras depending on students for the backbone of membership, the Lawrence Symphony has undergone considerable personnel change since last year. This change is most noticeable in the brass section—all but two of last year's section were graduated and have been replaced with freshmen. The lack of bigness and brilliancy characteristic of the orchestral brass, is apparent but with continued experience it will return to the orchestra. On the other hand, the woodwind section is greatly improved and the ensemble effect is quite commendable. The shortage of strings is a perennial problem. The conscientiousness of the tympani player in tuning his tymps was noted also.

Lawrence college and the Fox Valley community should be well-pleased with this orchestral performance.

One of the difficult jobs of housekeeping is to wax linoleum and asphalt tile floors. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it's no longer necessary to wax and scrub, just apply Glaxo about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre, non-slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor.

Man Invited to 'Old Flame Party,' Wife Says Nix-Ann Lauds Her

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: Two years ago I was engaged to a girl who was beautiful and fascinating. The engagement lasted only two months because she was entirely too popular. I knew I wasn't her first boy friend, and I didn't mind, Ann Landers, but when I ran into five fellows inside of three weeks who said they'd gone with her with "serious intentions" I began to wonder.

During our brief engagement she left town twice (supposedly to visit her sick aunt). When I learned she'd been on weekend trips with an old boy friend I broke the engagement. The following year I married a lovely girl and we are very happy.

Now, some two years later I have received a telegram from this girl and her current fiancé. They are throwing an "Old Flame Party" and inviting several of the former boy friends "just for old time's sake." I've never heard of such a thing, but think it would be fun to attend. My wife says I'd be a fool to accept such an invitation. What's your opinion? —STEWART

DEAR ANN: My mother is

My mother is socially ambitious for me. She phoned all my cousins and friends and informed them if they want to entertain for me they'd better hurry while there is still time open.

One of my good friends told me she's been invited to 16 parties in my honor and she doesn't know how she can afford "a little gift" for each party and pay for her dress, too.

I told Mother I'm embarrassed to tears and she says, "Keep quiet. This is the way to finish your house."

I'm sick of all this. Dare I refuse to go to the parties?

You're stuck for the affairs already planned, but you should refuse to attend any additional parties in your honor. Strong-arming friends and relatives to give showers is unspeakably cheap.

Phone the hostesses who have already been lassoed. Ask them to call the guests and make it clear that you'd prefer they not bring a gift if they've attended a previous shower. Get the word out as soon as possible.

DEAR ANN: My problem isn't serious compared to some of the things I read in your column, but it's making me nervous.

I have a roomer who insists on cluttering the closet and his room with old magazines, newspapers and catalogues which have no value whatsoever.

He will not permit me to throw away so much as a single scrap. I can hardly walk into the room to make up the bed. Cleaning is out of the question. I can't even see the rug, much less run a sweeper over it.

The man is very stubborn. What do you suggest?—MRS. H.K.

Tell the stubborn pack-rat that he's renting the room—he doesn't own it. Provide him with a large book-case and instruct him to keep all his junk in it. Explain you won't touch anything in the case, but all reading material which is outside the case will be thrown out. Give him a week to do his sorting.

Old magazines and paper left lying around for months are a fire hazard. There's your hook.

Return Gift Resented By Hostess

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Several months ago my husband and I visited some friends who had lived here but moved several hundred miles away to a new house. We had never exchanged gifts at any time but I thought it would be nice just this once to take a small gift to their new house. We had a return visit from them last week and when they left I found $10 on the dresser for me to buy something for my house. I thought this was uncalled for as our house is not a new one and I rather resent her leaving this money. Would it be proper to return it to her?

Answer: I can understand your feeling, but after all the money was left with the kindest of intentions and if you return it you would surely offend your friend. If you can bring yourself to do it, write her a Wedding Reception Dear Mrs. Post: As the bridegroom's parents we'd like to know whether we are expected to remain at the wedding reception until the very end? Someone told me it would be the height of rudeness to leave any sooner.

Answer: Unless you have some real excuse such as having to catch a train for home, you should stay until the bride and groom leave, after that you are quite free to go.

Be Frank Dear Mrs. Post: What can a woman do when a man propels her along the sidewalk by the elbow? I know she is supposed to take his arm when she needs any assistance, and I also believe that ideally he offers it to her.

Answer: About the only thing she can do is to pull her arm away and say frankly, "I'd rather take your arm!"

Culbertson on Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

Defenders frequently find themselves on the horns of this dilemma: shall they play quickly, thus giving no information to the declarer, or shall they stop and think in doubtful situations, thus handing out the information but at the same time insuring that their own decisions will be as sound as possible.

The ideal solution, of course, is to play quickly and correctly, but that is not within the capabilities of all players, not even good players. Everything considered, then, it is better to take time out and make the right play, than to risk an ill-advised play in the mere interest of concealment.

This general advice will become clearer in its application to the following typical case.

West's diamond raise on the low doubleton was daring, but it should have had an excellent outcome.

Declarer took the diamond opening with the ace, led to the heart king, discarded a spade on the heart ace, and then continued with the heart jack.

East, not wanting to reveal his possession of the heart queen, quickly played low — and South, with nothing to lose, threw off his remaining spade. That wound up the affair — South gave East a diamond trick and then was in firm control, losing only to the trump ace.

Quickly if possible, but slowly if he had to stop and think, East obviously should have covered the jack of hearts. It was self-evident that South didn't have the ace of spades, and also that West had to have a high jump trump honor. So how could South get back to dummy in time to use the heart ten after he ruffed away East's heart queen?

He seems to have cold after cold, a sore throat that lays him up time after time. By and by the doctor says, "He should have these taken out. He will have this trouble as long as they stay in. The sooner they are out the better."

This means an operation, of course. It is a simple one compared to others, but an operation nonetheless. There is nothing to be afraid of so long as the doctor in charge advises the removal of them, but the child should be taken to the hospital and the operation done there.

Explain Details
Once this is decided upon the child must be told about it, given the reason for it and told what it will do for him. He won't have that bad sore throat any more, nor all those colds that kept him in bed when the other boys were out playing. He is to be told about the hospital, how things look there, about the white coats and uniforms, the thermometers, the little carriage that takes him to the operating room, what happens there, how he goes to sleep and wakes up to find his throat a bit sore. His mother will be sitting by the bed when he goes back and will stay with him as long as he needs her. It is a mistake to cheat about this in an attempt to avoid frightening the child. When that is done he is really frightened and will resist with all his might. When he is prepared in advance he may be worried and in need of assurance but he will not have lost faith in his mother and his doctor and feel he has been abandoned to some terrible fate. It is cruel to deceive a child under these conditions. Tell him the truth and he will stand up to it in much better spirit.

Don't talk about this before him. Settle all the details beyond his sight or hearing. About two days before the event tell him what is going to happen. That will be time enough for him to become used to the idea and not long enough for him to do too much worrying.

Beauty
Right Spray Type
Aids Hair Styling

By Marian Matthews

It's easy to keep your hair style becoming these days when you pamper it with just the right shampoos for your texture hair and when you use a hair spray that helps its style last with beauty till the next washing.

Experiment with hair styles and improve your appearance as you learn to handle your hair. Of course, a good basic haircut and a foundation permanent are necessary to give you the best results when you wish to change hair styles from do by atomizing with a hair time to time so invest in a smart cut before you become styling.

A spray that is used before you comb your hair can be effective. After spraying with a fine, invisible mist push in a wave or flip in a curl just where you want it. Hours later if your curls are crushed or disheveled, you can refresh your hairdo by dampening your comb with water and pushing waves back into place.

Today's sprays leave hair soft and fragrant and with an attractive sheen. They have become year around favorites with many women while others find them necessary for outdoor living which begins in spring and runs through summertime.

Don't be afraid to try really different types of hair styles. Clip photographs of coiffures that you feel would be becoming to you and set your hair for the same effect when you shampoo your hair. Use rollers for the fluffy rounded silhouettes popular right now or pin curls as necessary. Remove all pins and rollers when setting is completely dry and use spray. Hold several inches away from hair.

Create Your favorite hairdo by atomizing with a hair time to time so invest in a smart cut before you become styling.

Mail Clerk
Gets 3 Years
On Probation

Man Admitted He Took Letters From Appleton Post Office

Donald Holland, 24, 4001 W. Spencer road, Monday in Milwaukee was sentenced to three years on probation on charges of mail theft. Federal Judge Robert E. Tohan also ordered Holland to make restitution, with the federal probation agency to supervise repayment of monies stolen from the mails.

Holland was arrested in Appleton March 18 by postal inspectors after they planted a letter in the mail and watched Holland take it. Other letters and parcels were found in his car after he was in custody.

Married and the father of two children, Holland had worked in the Appleton post office as a substitute postal clerk for about five months before his capture. He pleaded guilty and has been free on bond since his first court appearance.

Specifically, Holland was charged with the theft of one letter containing $24. However, he admitted to postal inspectors that he stole about $350 since November 'because he needed the money. About 50 letters and several packages were found in Holland's car.

Postal inspectors were called in after Appleton Postmaster Francis Summitt was told by postal workers that patrons were complaining about lost and missing mail.

Physiotherapy Helps Patient With Paralysis After Stroke

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.

I feel today as though I'm over a barrel. Some time ago I wrote a column which quoted, at some length, a letter from a Mr. "E.O." who had had a stroke, had been to the hospital, and finally was sent home, more or less recovered.

That is to say, he was out of danger so far as his life was concerned. Yet, as is usually the case when a stroke is severe, he was left with some paralysis.

There is only a certain amount that can be done, medically, in such cases. Quite a bit can be accomplished by physiotherapy, over a period of time. But here's the catch—or perhaps the good thing about it. "Physiotherapy" is a very large extent is simply a matter of keeping the paralyzed arm, hand, leg, or whatever, as active as is reasonably possible. Mere motion helps, by stimulating the circulation and preventing the member from stiffening and wasting away.

Muscle Use

Of more importance yet is moving the member under its own power—that is, using the muscles. If the fingers or arms don't move very far, still, they should be moved to the extent they can move.

The original injury, of course, was to the brain. The "stroke" shut off the nerve impulses which "ordered" the muscles to move. Hence the muscles became paralyzed for lack of "instructions" rather than from any damage to the muscles themselves.

In "E.O.'s" case and thousands of others, the nerve damage in the brain was at least in part repaired. After that, it takes use to restore usefulness. Probably the nerve training itself is helped by steady use; most certainly the muscle benefits from being used instead of being allowed to lie idle.

Sand Bags Help

"E.O." wrote that he had developed a system of some small bags of sand to use in exercising. Many readers still continue to ask for further details. I don't give out names of those who write to me, nor do I keep them on file. I destroy the letters to be sure they never accidentally get into circulation. So if E.O. will write to me again, perhaps I can add a bit more about the topic. I'll wait and see.

Meantime, however, here is the important principle: Exercising a partially paralyzed arm or hand isn't easy. Such an arm or hand can't swing a broom, hammer or shovel—nor do the ordinary activities which normally keep our muscles toned up without our thinking about it.

So you have to invent simple "jobs" for these muscles to do—like fastening a small weight to the hand or finger, perhaps only an ounce or a few ounces, and lifting the weight in which ever direction the muscles will work. Then increase the weight as you are able.

It takes patience and determination and time. It also takes some ingenuity to figure out a contrivance so the muscles, within their capabilities, can work against the weight. The lifting, or straining against the pull of the weight, is the important thing. So even if I should not hear further from "E.O." I think many readers can take the idea from here, and work out methods, with or without some special contrivance, to keep those partially paralyzed muscles working. The muscles will, and do, gain strength.

Democrats Vote Against Anti-Racket Labor Law

Defeat Legislation To Force Secret Ballot in Unions

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—The Democrats in the senate voted almost unanimously to prevent the enactment of legislation that would prohibit labor racketeering. They won the vote this week, but they may have cost themselves the 1958 elections.

For the Democrats, in control of both houses of congress, have refused to allow remedial laws to be passed to rid the country of abuses of power by labor unions. This means that, in the campaign this autumn, in the big cities and particularly where the high cost of living hurts most, the Democrats who are candidates for congress will be confronted with the forces which have brought on the present recession. People with fixed incomes—and there are from 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 in their throughout the country—will be hearing speeches, mostly from Republicans, telling how the monopolistic power of labor unions has forced the present trend of inflation in America.

Dean Speaks

Within the last few days, Charles C. Abbott, dean of the graduate school of business administration at the University of Virginia, declared before the Senate finance committee:

"If the current recession deepens, I would raise a question whether economic historians may not label it the first union-made depression in our history."

Dean Abbott said that this spring a group of "the most distinguished economic analysts to be found in our universities" has been invited to lecture at the University of Virginia and that ten of the guest lecturers have already appeared. He added:

"I have been impressed by the extent to which they ascribe many of our present economic difficulties to the exercise of monopolistic powers by trade unions. There is general agreement on the process through which these difficulties are generated. Under threat of strike, unions extract wage increases and other benefits from the economy that are in excess of increases in productivity. These wage increases inevitably push up prices when, as is the case in this country, there is a flexible money supply. That is why the kind of inflation we have today is increasingly referred to as a 'wage-push' inflation and incidentally—this type of inflation cannot be solved through monetary and fiscal policies alone."

Many members of congress of both parties feel that something should be done to curb the monopolistic power of unions, just as the anti-trust laws prevent corporations from exercising price-fixing powers. But the political strategy of the Democratic leadership has been mistakenly based on a belief that the issue is not very important and that the efforts of men like Sen. Knowland of California, Republican, to get something done about it do not have nation-wide support.

Secret Ballots

It is significant that, on the question of requiring labor unions to conduct elections of their officers by secret ballot at least once in four years, only one Democrat—Sen. Lausche of Ohio—voted with the 36 Republicans who want such an amendment adopted. It is significant also that 10 Republicans—five of whom are up for reelection this autumn—went along with the Democrats.

The "excuse" given, as Sen.

Knowland rightly labels the strategy of the majority, is that the bills had not had adequate study in committee. Hence, promises were broadcast by the Democratic leaders that they would bring out a bill later on in this session. The betting today is that, if the senate passes a bill, the Democratic leaders in the house will kill it. For the truth is the alliance of the Democratic party in congress with the labor-union bosses is still very strong. Even the southern Democrats, it is reported, felt they had to go along with the Northerners this time, largely because of a belief that the Democratic party control of congress and their own committee chairmanships could only be retained that way.

The battle between the conservatives and the so-called "liberals" in congress, many of whom depend on labor-union money to win elections, is going to be vigorously waged this autumn in several places where the Democrats have hitherto thought they could win easily. The sentiment of the nation today, especially among the fixed-income groups as well as among housewives generally, is against those who are responsible for the "union-made" recession. There are many homes, too, where the union worker finds his wife wondering whether his union dues are being misused or embezzled, as the recent exposures have shown.

It looks now as if only by the election of enough new members in congress—committed to legislation that abolishes the labor-union monopoly—will there ever be any chance of getting relief from the wage-price spiral and inflation.

Milk Important Both to Health, Keeping High Level Economy

BY CARL N. NEUPERT, M. D.
State Health Officer

Here in Wisconsin, milk is not only our most nearly perfect food—it is also one of our most important export commodities. In fact, about 80 per cent of all the milk produced in the state is exported to other parts of the country—in the form of fluid milk or milk products. Maintaining a high standard of safety and quality is therefore imperative.

We in Wisconsin, therefore, should be concerned with the quality and safety of the 20 per cent used by state citizens and vacationers, as well as the responsibility to our out-of-state milk consumers.

In spite of its high nutritional value, milk also can be a potential hazard. That's because disease-spreading bacteria find it a happy breeding ground, and, when not properly handled, use it as an agent for spreading such diseases as tuberculosis, brucellosis, typhoid, diphtheria, septic sore throat.

Protection Provided
Pasteurization, properly carried out, however, provides us with adequate protection against these bacteria without altering the milk's taste or nutritional value. This process, plus production according to uniform, rigid and reasonable health requirements, is necessary before any milk supply is labeled grade A.

A mark of quality and safety, this label means that everyone can now use this wonderful food with complete assurance that their milk enjoys maximum sanitary public health protection—from cow to consumer.

By using grade A milk, Wisconsin consumers as well as our out-of-state customers, can safely serve themselves a highly concentrated, low-cost source of energy; a good muscle, tooth and bone builder, and a highly digestible source of vitamins A and G. In short, they are con-

Distribution Policy For Gamma Globulin From State Restated

A restatement of policy for distribution of free gamma globulin by the state board of health has been received by the city health department.

The state board receives its supply of free globulin from the American Red Cross. Similar supplies from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis have been discontinued.

The restated policy letter says the Red Cross has cut its supplies to the state by about 25 per cent. Physicians, when the state supply is exhausted, must get the globulin from commercial sources, the letter says.

Eligible for the free globulin are children under three who have contacted measles, children in poor health, pregnant women who have never had measles or German measles and have contacted it, patients with infectious hepatitis, pregnant women who have contacted poliomyelitis and patients with agammaglobulinemia.

Physicians must direct requests for the globulin to the district health office at Green Bay.

187 Take Part In 4-H Rural Drama Revue

Next Year's Program
To be Put on Contest
Basis for Trophies

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — This year's rural drama revue was discussed by members of the county association Monday night at the courthouse lounge room. Curtis Combs, town of Vinland, was elected president for a 2-year term and Mrs. Dale Nolte, Oshkosh, was reelected treasurer.

This year's program included 18 one-act plays, 12 music numbers, three dance numbers and a pantomime. There were 187 members of 22 4-H clubs who took part and were guided by 24 directors. Attendance at the four section programs totaled about 700.

It was decided to set up the activity on a contest basis next year and to award a trophy for the best presentation in each of the four sections. The present area leaders are to line up a successor for their section next year.

Discuss Time
The group also discussed whether the rural theater revue should be in the spring or fall. The decision will be left to the county 4-H leaders association for action at its May 13 meeting.

The original playwriting part of the program is being discontinued. The county officers felt the overall program was a worthwhile activity for 4-H club members and one to be continued.

Fiberglas Home Insulation Adds To Value

Neenah — Cool, relaxing summers and warm, comfortable winters in your home are assured with Fiberglas home insulation. "It's the kind of home comfort that'll make you thank your lucky stars, and your Fiberglas applicator," says Howard Norman of Norman Brothers Insulation, Roofing and Siding company, 911 S. Commercial street. Phone number is PA 2-7071.

The firm said that the secret is an insulation that will block out the sun's heat in summer and work just as well to hold heat inside during the winter. "No matter how hard your heating plant works in winter," says owner Norman, "cold walls make rooms feel chilly, and they chill the air to make cold downdrafts through the house."

"Fiberglas home insulation eliminates this condition by helping to keep walls warm — expands your 'comfort zone' right out to the walls."

Invests Money Wisely
When a homeowner adds to the value of his home he in-

FIBERGLAS APPLICATORS AT NORMAN BROTHERS, 911 S. Commercial St., Neenah, have been thoroughly trained in the most effective methods of applying Fiberglas blown insulation to any area home. They are experienced men in the building and home insulation field, picked for their integrity and ability. Area home owners are assured of the cleanest, fastest, most efficient and reliable insulation service. When the work is completed Norman Brothers applicators will place a "Fiberglas-Insulated" certificate in a prominent attic location. The certificate warrants the quality of workmanship and certifies that genuine Fiberglas blown insulation was used. Terms are easily arranged at Norman Brothers. A customer may even pay no money down and take 36 months to pay. Area people may gain further information by dialing PA 2-7071.

vests that money wisely if he invested in insulation pays a higher return than any other. It is a permanent home dollar. For free estimates or to discuss an insulation problem, Fox Cities may call Mr. Norman at PA 2-7071.

ANOTHER BARD HEATING UNIT has been installed in the area by Menasha Heating & Sheet Metal, 314 Racine street, Menasha. Shown above are Dick Hartzheim (left) and Russ Ihde checking the installation of a Bard Model C deluxe oil-fired winter air conditioning unit in a new Fox Cities' tri-level home. This unit features baseboard perimeter heat and is completely automatic. The Menasha firm, owned and operated by William (Bill) Hartzheim, has now installed more than 600 Bard units in Fox Cities' homes. Area people with a heating problem are invited to call this reliable firm at PA 2-3653. The firm is building a new office and showroom. It is expected to be finished around June 1. Centuries ago in England a girl would be crowned May queen, then a May pole would be set and girls and boys would dance around it all day long. It would be fun to have a May pole in someone's back yard or on the playground. In the yard

Preview Fish, Game Proposals At Twin City Rod, Gun Meeting

Menasha — Sportsmen attending the Twin City Rod and Gun club meeting at Germania hall Monday night got a preview of some of the proposals which will be voted on at the county fish and game hearing May 12 at the Neenah High school gym.

A few of the recommendations were reviewed by Conservation Warden Al Dunham, who reported that he didn't think this year's hearing would last as long as some of the others in recent years unless there are numerous arguments. They have gone on as late as 12:45.

Nine Game Questions

Sportsmen will vote on nine questions on the game questionnaire such as opening day, shift in zoning lines on squirrels, extending open water shooting to include Lake Superior, closing deer registration at 10 o'clock on the day following the close of the season and selection of reservations on managed game hunts by random rather than earliest postmark. The deer hunting season also will be discussed.

Five proposals will be discussed on the fish part of the questionnaire, including a May 1 opening for bass on the inland waters of Door county, May 15 opening for bass on all inland waters north of Highway 64, six inch size limit on trout and five lines fishing through the ice on Lake Winnebago.

Application Filed

Dunham said that an application has been filed asking for a hearing on Little Lake Butte des Morts fish on such questions as taking the large sturgeon out of the lake and putting them in the big lake as well as doing something with the bullhead population. A date for a hearing is expected to be set in the near future.

President John Britzke read a letter from the corps of engineers at Milwaukee which stated that little could be done about the water level here. The club had sent a letter to the

Paulick Gets 1 to 4 Years For Homicide

Arps Sentences Oshkosh Man for Stepdaughter's Death

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh — Alfred Paulick Jr., 24, Oshkosh, was sentenced Monday afternoon to a term of one to four years at the state reformatory at Green Bay. He had pleaded guilty April 21 of homicide by virtue of reckless conduct.

Circuit Judge H. F. Arps, in pronouncing sentence, stated the record indicated "calculated brutality" on Paulick's part. The case had been transferred to his court from municipal court.

Paulick was charged with the death of his stepdaughter, Joan Kent, 4 years old, who died in Mercy hospital here Jan. 24. Paulick had admitted striking the child in an attempt, he said, to discipline her. The girl died of abdominal injuries several days later.

Agent Gives Suggestions On Planting of Shade Trees

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh — Shade tree planting season is here now, County Agent Vernon W. Peroutky said today as he advised planters to give some thought to the variety of tree to fit their need and desires.

The elm is a good standby and one elm is in order in every yard, he suggested. The American elm is spreading and when full grown it will take care of a back yard. It also is a tree that will take the wind and if a limb breaks out, the gap will fill in.

It also is a tree that grows reasonably fast. The threat of Dutch elm disease is a minor factor, Peroutky thought. The Yucca or Moline elm grows upright and takes a smaller area. Both the sugar and Norway maples are hardy and make dense shade. Their shape is regular taking less space than the American elm and their fall color is beautiful. If a storm breaks out a limb, they are slow to fill the gap, however. Feeder roots are shallow.

Virus Free Strawberry Plants Recommended For Home Garden Lots

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh — For home garden lots, virus free strawberry plants are recommended this year. The Wisconsin green tagged, virus free strawberries are available. County Agent Vernon W. Peroutky mentioned.

The cost is little or no more than regular plants but they have much more vigor for production of fruit and runner plants. Sparkle, Robinson, Cat-skill and Dunlap green tag varieties now are being sold and they will stay virus free for two or three years, the life of the average berry patch.

Sparkle virus free plants, grown beside the same variety which was not virus free at the Sturgeon Bay experimental farm last year, yielded 50 per cent more fruit, the county agent observed.

Grid Cardinals
Sign Stuber
As Assistant

Chicago — The Chicago
Cardinals Monday announced the signing of Emmett "Abe" Stuber, a football coach for 30 years, as an assistant coach.

The signing completed head coach Frank Ivy's staff for the 1958 National Football league season.

Stuber, 55, served as assistant coach with the Philadelphia Eagles in 1955 and the
Green Bay Packers in 1956.

Last year, he operated an investment business in his Piedmont, Mo. home.

Previously, he was head
coach of Iowa State from 1947-1953. Stuber started coaching football in 1928 at Westminster college, Fulton, Mo. He is a graduate of the University of Missouri.

New York — Former welterweight champion "Kid" Ga-vilan has been ordered to appear today before a grand jury investigating boxing, but the chances of his showing up appear slim.

Gavilan was involved in an accident in Havana Monday
when his car seriously injured
a pedestrian. He was held for a few hours and released.

Meet Your Foxes

Van Dyke Playing Close To Home This Season

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Fox Cities third baseman Bob Van Dyke is happy to be playing baseball a lot closer to his home state of Michigan this season.

The 20-year-old long ball hitter was plucked right out of the Detroit Tigers' back yard by Senator scout Dick Wienczek and sent to Fort Walton Beach,

Sixth of Series

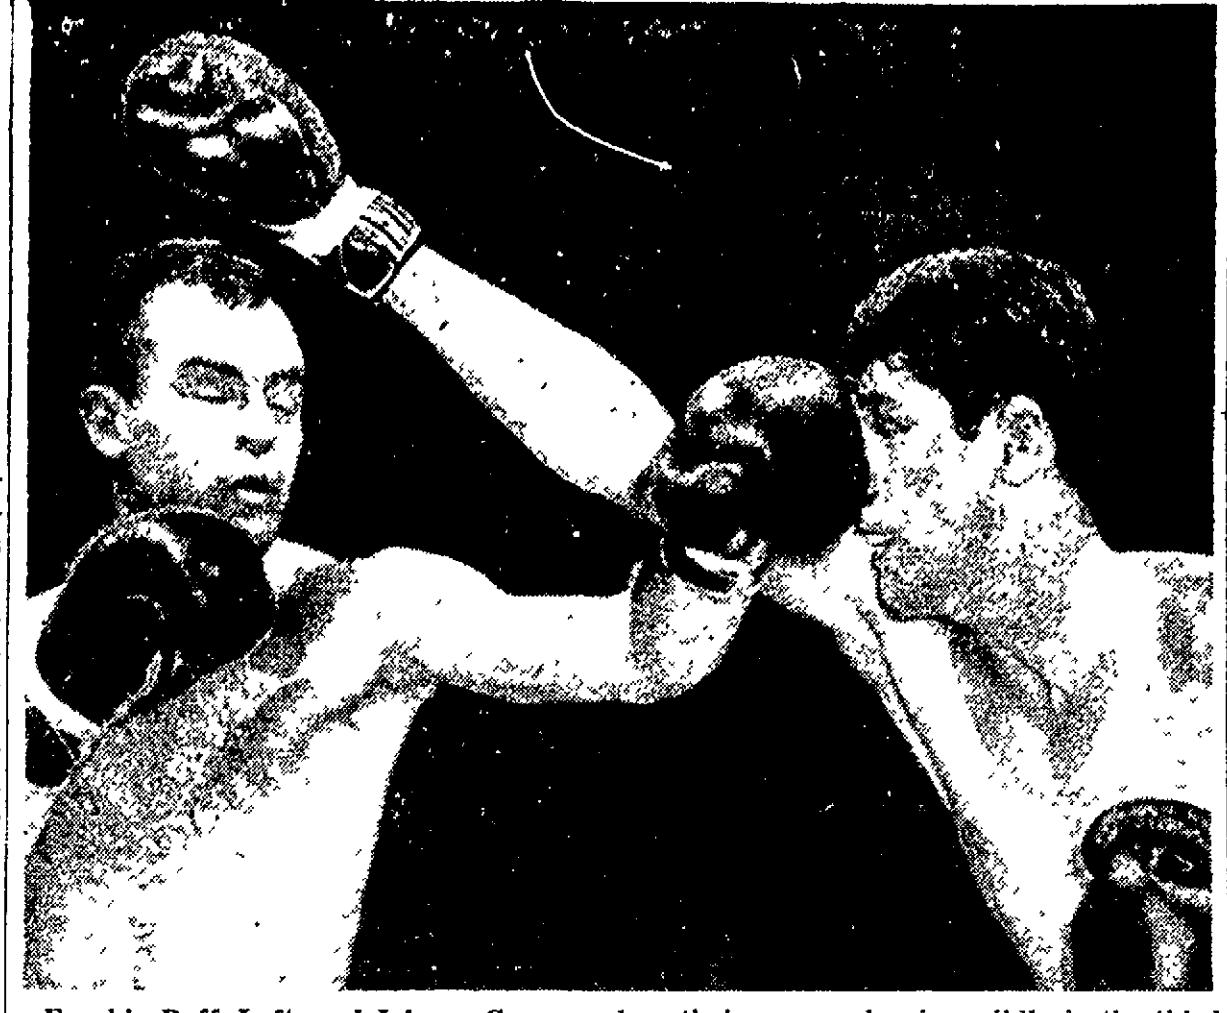

Fla. Last year, with that Class
D club, Van Dyke hit 19 homers and batted in 78 runs (tops on the club) while hitting .264.

Born in Grand Rapids, Van Dyke now calls Holland, Mich., home. He is married, and his wife plans to join him here Saturday for the Foxes' home opener.

Family, Friends to Attend
The proximity of the Fox Cities to his home town, will also make it possible for his folks and friends to see him in action this season.

The 185-pound Van Dyke, who measures an even 6 feet, believes the ideal infielder is one who could field like George Kell and hit like Ted Williams.
Van Dyke feels he's going to make a good deal of fielding progress here with the help of Manager Pete Suder, an accomplished major league infielder for years. Van Dyke indicates Suder has already impressed him gain better rhythm in his pick-up and throw.

The right-handed hitting Van Dyke will have a better target to shoot for in left field this year. Last year, he had a 360-foot wall to aim for and yet managed to get about half of his 19 homers at home. Goodland field left field wall is only 315 feet away. Van Dyke would like to hit 20-25 this season and hopes to bring his average up

Anticipated Eruption Fails to Materialize at Packer Parley

Olejniczak Named President as Milwaukeeans Back Bay Officials

Green Bay — Dominick Olejniczak, former mayor here, was elected president of the Green Bay Packers Monday night after an expected eruption of Milwaukee discontent.

The signing completed head coach Frank Ivy's staff for the 1958 National Football league
season.

Stuber, 55, served as assistant coach with the Philadelphia Eagles in 1955 and the
Green Bay Packers in 1956.

Last year, he operated an investment business in his Piedmont, Mo. home.

Previously, he was head
coach of Iowa State from 1947-
1953. Stuber started coaching football in 1928 at Westminster college, Fulton, Mo. He is a graduate of the University of Missouri.

Gavilan was involved in an accident in Havana Monday
when his car seriously injured
a pedestrian. He was held for a few hours and released.

The Milwaukee group definitely said it is wholeheartedly in favor of the Green Bay Packers. That attitude was manifested during the board meeting.

Lewellen said he told the directors that 20,382 season tickets had been sold for the four home games in Green Bay without any special drive. He said that, as of last Saturday, 4,012 ticket renewals were received in Milwaukee for the two games there.

Outfielder Haas
Expected to Join
Milwaukee Today

Chicago — The Milwaukee Braves announced Monday that 22-year-old Eddie Haas, an outfielder obtained in the deal with the Chicago Cubs that also included pitchers Bob Rush and Don Kaiser, was expected to join the world champions here today.

Haas recently completed a 6-month Army reserve training program. He batted .279 with FL. Worth in the Class AA Texas league last season before joining Chicago near the end of the 1957 National league pennant race.

Hagan Scores 35 for Victorious West Five

Albuquerque — The Western All-Stars of the National Basketball association capitalized on a fast break to take a 45-29 first quarter lead over the Eastern All-Stars and an ultimate 159-138 victory Monday night.

The game cut the Easterners lead to one game in their cross country tour. The East leads 8-7.

Cliff Hagan of St. Louis led the way with 35 points for the West. He was followed by teammate Dick Garmaker, Minneapolis, with 24.

Badger Golf Team
Wins Two Matches

Madison — The Wisconsin's golf team won two matches
Monday, defeating non-conference foes Northern Illinois and Western Illinois.

Wisconsin defeated Western Illinois, 11-7, and downed Northern Illinois, 101 to 71. The two Illinois teams drew 9-9 in their dual match.

Jim Remmert, Badger junior, was the meet medalist with a 71, under par.

Pittsburgh — Bobby Stinato, 174, Youngstown, Ohio, stopped Mert Brownfield, 180,
Turtle Creek, Pa., 5.

Bob Van Dyke

Smarter and really work on the batter, he says.
Van Dyke played basketball, baseball and football at Holderness High school. He played American Legion ball for two seasons, hitting .464 in his best year.
Right after high school graduate, he went to a business institute in Grand Rapids for a foot year. But his future plans, relating to business are indefinite, he points out.
Bob has one baseball-playing brother who is a catcher on the

Davenport Trips Foxes, 12-6,
To Square Opening Series

Winners Snap Tie With Six
Runs in 8th; Ron Bloodworth
Slated to Start Tonight

Davenport, Iowa — The Davenport DavSox turned five singles, two walks and an error into six eighth-inning runs to crack a 6-6 tie and post a series-evening 12-6 victory over the Fox Cities club here Monday night.

The teams were to meet tonight in the rubber match of the season-opening, 3 - game series, with Foxes' right-hander Ron Bloodworth due to face Davenport southpaw Jack Kral-lick.

The possibility remained that tonight's game might be postponed because of cold weather.
Last night's contest was played in middle-30-degree temperatures, and only 401 customers turned out.

Foxes Rally
Davenport began its eighth-inning assault at the expense of reliever Ernie Stinsa. Starter Rene Nodarse had been lifted for a pinch batter in the top of the eighth as the Foxes rallied for three runs to tie the score.

Bill Stengel beat out a roller down the third base line to open the Davenport eighth.
Pitcher Bill Rouse forced Stengel, in a sacrifice attempt,
Stinsa to reserve shortstop Bob Tano. Don Bacon and Chuck Lehman walked to load the bases. Felix Guzman lofted a sacrifice fly to "Sandy" Valdespino to score the run that proved to be the winner.

Bacon, who took third on the fly ball, scored as he and Lehman worked a double steal.
After Stinsa threw one ball to left-handed hitting Don Mincher, southpaw Dick Griffith was called in by Foxes' manager Pete Suder. Mincher singled to left, scoring Lehman. Jim Lynn's single put Mincher on second.

Makes Wild Throw
Chuck Lindstrom beat out a hit to deep short, and when Ta-no made a wild throw to third, Mincher scored and the other runners took second and third.
Bob Sagers singled to center scoring the fifth and sixth runs of the frame. Sagers was out trying to stretch his hit.

In the first three innings,
the Foxes' Bob Van Dyke got the game's only hit — a double.
Van Dyke finished up with a perfect (3-for-3) night.

The Foxes got to Davenport starter Stover McIlwain for two runs in the fourth. "Tex"
Taylor doubled to left. Van Dyke walked, Julio Castro singled to right, scoring Taylor and sending Van Dyke to third.
Van Dyke scored on a force out.

The DavSox tied it up on two unearned runs in their half of the fourth.

In the Fox Cities fifth, Nodarse hit a 1-out double. Tom Palamar singled sharply to left, Nodarse stopping at third.
Taylor walked, and Van Dyke drove in the run with a sacrifice fly.

Davenport again squared the count in its half of the fifth on walks to Stengel and Bacon and a double by Lehman.

Davenport got three in the seventh. McIlwain dropped a wind-blown pop single in front of the plate. Bacon sacrificed.
Lehman beat out a hit to deep short, the runner holding second. Guzman rapped a double to left center, scoring both runners. Mincher was given an intentional walk but Lynn singled to center to plate the third run.

The game continued to see-saw as the Foxes tied it in the eighth. Taylor walked, and Van Dyke singled. Castro's hit loaded the bases. Al Bryce came in to pitch and fanned Valdespino. Taylor scored on

MacPhail Urges Expansion of Major Leagues

Former Executive Says 13 of 16 Parks are Obsolete

Baltimore —(P)—The major leagues should expand to 20 12-team leagues, the farm systems should be limited, ball parks be modernized and big league managers should "shake off their apathy," Larry MacPhail said Monday night.

MacPhail, one-time general manager of the Cincinnati Reds, Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees, said 13 of the 16 major league ball parks are now obsolete and lack adequate parking facilities.

He excepted Baltimore's Memorial stadium and Yankee stadium.

MacPhail, now a successful horse breeder at Bel Air, Md., spoke at the thirty-seventh annual Scimeter dinner, held in honor of the Baltimore Orioles.

He said that unless major league officials end their current apathy and try to solve their problems, the game will dissolve into a "studio push-button" sport.

Frankie Ryff Unimpressive While Winning

New York —(P)—Frankie Ryff today decided to continue fighting against the advice of his manager.

"He worries about his eyes," said Manager Charlie Black. "I hate to tell him to do anything drastic, but I just don't know. I think he ought to quit. He can't make a good living fighting. I don't want to discourage him. I told him to quit before. But he wanted to keep going."

Said Ryff: "I think I can keep going if I have a few more fights under my belt."

Frankie, once regarded as a leading contender for the lightweight championship, won a unanimous decision over Johnny German at St. Nicholas arena Monday night. He was unimpressive and the crowd of 1,210 spent much of its time hooting the pair.

"Believe me, the booing made me feel bad," said Ryff. "I was tempted to open up, but my corner told me to keep the fight going, that I had it on points."

Covington Is Missed In Braves' Outfield

Four Gardeners Have Been Unsure Performers to Date

Chicago —(P)—The Milwaukee Braves visited Chicago today as they began a 9-game road trip without the recuperating Wes Covington, a man sorely missed in the Braves' weak-hitting outfield.

Southpaw Warren Spahn, boasting a 1.67 earned-run average, was given the chance against the Cubs to pick up a third victory without a loss.

Manager Fred Haney's problem is to bracket center fielder Henry Aaron, a batting powerhouse, with the best possible combination of two of four unsure performers.

Pafko Hitting .118

Andy Pafko, 37, is known for his remarkable diving catches in the outfield, but he is batting only .118, with two hits and two runs batted in for 17 times at bat.

Young Mel Roach is a promising batter with three hits, including a homer, in his six appearances at the plate, but his unseasoned fielding might be costly in such places as Chicago's open, windswept Wrigley field.

Bob Hazle revived Milwaukee's spirits late last season, batting .403 in 41 games, but he has failed to blossom this spring. He has had one RBI and six hits in 37 times at bat.

Harry Hanebrink smacked two home runs this spring, but they were his only hits in 25 times at bat.

Stays in Milwaukee

The potential is there, but Haney needs the steady and powerful hitting of someone like Wes Covington, who also has proved that his fielding can rob opponents of extra-base hits.

Covington remained in Milwaukee to nurse the knee he

Chisox' Pierce Faces Orioles' O'Dell Tonight

By The Associated Press

"It's a little early to get excited about a series with the Yankees," Manager Jack Tighe of the Detroit Tigers said today. "but we'd sure love to beat 'em."

The Tiger skipper, shrugging off slow starts by a pair of his 20-game winners, Frank Lary (0-2) and Jim Bunning (1-2), as "just one of those things," led his team against New York today in the opener of a 2-game series.

While the Tigers and Yankees met in New York, the rest of the West started its first swing through the East with Cleveland going against Washington this afternoon and in night games, the Chicago White Sox and Billy Pierce faced Baltimore's Billy O'Dell and Kansas City played at Boston with Jack Urban going against Tom Brewer.

Tighe, who spent the day off visiting his mother in Kearney, N. J., Monday tabbed Kansas City, currently in second, a game behind New York, as an improved club this season among those he's seen.

The American girls, losing two games in Moscow, improved their record with their first victory Monday, defeating a Georgian squad 42-37. The female: take on an E-tonian squad tonight.

The American squads fly back to Moscow Wednesday to witness the annual May Day parade in Red square.

Writers Against Recognizing Homer Marks Created at LA

BY JOE REICHLER

New York —(P)—A majority for home run requirements as of the nation's sports writers well as the extension of the Col recommended today that any iscum's present 42-foot screen, new home run record which Opinion varied on the size of may be set because of the Los Angeles coliseum's short left field fence be declared invalid, dimensions was a whopping 73 feet.

An Associated Press poll of nearly 200 sports writers, editors and columnists showed 67 per cent in favor of the recommendation not recognizing a National for the uprooted Dodgers' temporary setup. Remarks accompanied Ruth's major league record of panning some of the ballots in 60 home runs in one season, included phrases such as, "It's a That would, of course, include disgrace," "a ridiculous situation," "a huge farce," "unfit for baseball," "not even good mark of 56."

The writers also advocated enough for Little League."

York and the west coast, the committee drafted an amendment which would need only the approval of the commissioner of baseball and that of the league desiring to make a switch.

At present, one league cannot enter another's territory without unanimous approval of members of both leagues. Therefore, if a National league team wanted to go to New York, the Yankees could stop the move with a veto.

By the same token, the American league could be stopped from entering a team in Los Angeles if the Dodgers disapproved.

List Members

Committee members attending yesterday's session included Commissioner Ford Frick, Warren Giles, president of the National league; Atty. Roy Egan of the Chicago White Sox; Presidents Harvey Hansen of Detroit and Joe Carines of Milwaukee; General Managers Frank Lane of Cleveland and Gabe Paul of Cincinnati, and Charles Segar, secretary-treasurer of baseball.

After yesterday's action, William A. Shea, chairman of New York city's special committee on major league baseball, called the amendment a step in the right direction. Shea, in New York, said it would wipe out any "veto power" the Yankees have to block the transfer of a National league franchise to the city.

Neither Giles nor Frick would give their opinion as to whether they believed the amendment would pass but Giles called it "a fair solution."

Giles added, however, that the National league at present is not planning any moves.

Don't Swing Club Too Far Back

BY DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

Patient's Complaint: "My Shots Go Wild!"

Diagnosis: "Piccolo Grip" At the Top

Treatment: How can players who let go of the club with the left hand at the top of the backswing expect accurate shots? This letting - go action at the top leaves only the top part of the fingers on the club, hence the term "piccolo grip."

But forgetting all jokes and descriptive terms, the left hand must be - and remain - firmly in control of the club through the top part of the swing. If you let go, you'll have to regrip the club as you come into the ball. So how are you going to know the second gripping will be like the first? You won't.

The chief cause of the loose grip at the top is swinging the club too far back. How far is too far back? Well, any time you swing the club so far back that you have to let go with the left hand to be able to swing that far back then that's too far back. First, be sure your grip is basically correct. If you then find yourself letting go at the top, restrict your backswing and see if your shots don't improve.

Number of Big 10 Coaches Think Aid Plan Hurts Loop's Recruiting

Other Mentors Need More Time to Judge Program's Effects

By Charles Chamberlain

Chicago —(P)—Half the football coaches in the Big Ten think they are losing prospective players because of the conference's financial aid plan adopted a year ago.

Other coaches believe it is too early to tell just what effect the plan has had. Some others aren't talking much.

The plan offers grants to athletes on the basis of proven need computed from parents' financial statements.

"I think it is bringing a change in the type of boy we now can obtain," said Coach Murray Warmath of Minnesota in an Associated Press survey.

"We are losing some of the natural leaders to schools outside the conference. Some of the boys who do not qualify for aid under the plan consider it a matter of pride to be given a scholarship. We are losing these boys."

Bob Hollway, assistant coach at Michigan, said "recruiting is no harder. . . We got practically everyone we wanted this year except a couple of Chicago boys who went to Yale."

"Woody" Hayes of defending champion Ohio State believed "there is evidence" that some Big Ten prospects are going elsewhere.

"But complaints in public will not solve Big Ten problems," he added. "As for recruiting being easier or harder — it's always tough in Ohio!"

Other views:

"Duffy" Daugherty, Michigan State — "MSU voted for it so I can't say anything against it. But none of the boys who came to Big Ten schools under the plan have played a lick yet in varsity ball, so it is hard to know what effect, if any, it will have on the caliber of conference football."

Forest Evashevski, Iowa —

"We still don't like it at Iowa. We've lost players to schools in other conferences."

Jack Mollenkopf, Purdue — "The problems are much the same as last year. The Big Ten is losing some boys because of the financial contribution required of many parents."

Ray Eliot, Illinois — "We need the perspective of several years to make a sound judgment on whether it will aid outside conferences at our expense. But I don't feel the Big Ten was hurt in the overall picture too badly by the plan."

Ara Parseghian, Northwestern — "The job of rebuilding will take longer because of the aid plan. It costs more to live up here (Chicago area) and a boy can't afford to go to Northwestern while state-supported schools in the Big Ten practically are free."

Milt Bruhn, Wisconsin — "Recruiting may be easier under the new program because it gives us a chance to sell Wisconsin."

Phil Dickens, Indiana — "I don't feel we can make a true evaluation until we are completely on the need plan, three years from now. Then it should speak for itself."

Locklin and Thiel Both Hitting Well

Appleton's "Stu" Locklin batted .293 during a recent stretch of games with San Diego in the Pacific Coast league.

Locklin, who is playing left field and batting in the cleanup spot, got five hits in 17 trips, knocking in a pair of runs and scoring one run.

Marion's Bert Thiel made two pitching appearances for Minneapolis of the American Association. In 10 and two-thirds innings he allowed three earned runs (four wins altogether), 13 hits, and three walks, striking out four. He was not the pitcher of record in either game.

Thiel has smacked a double and two singles in three official appearances in the two games, driving in two runs and scoring one.

Bill Rouse became the third Davenport pitcher. Ed Raczynski flied out. Castro scored the tying run on a wild pitch. Ted Sadowski batted for Nodarse and struck out.

Lynn was the fielding star of the game. He made eight put-outs, including three smashes he grabbed against the center field fence.

Dodgers' Podres Off to Great Start; Drysdale Disappoints

Los Angeles — The fine start that Johnny Podres has made this year is the bright spot in the Dodger pitching situation.

A crafty southpaw with good stuff, Podres is a seasoned veteran at 25 and figures to be the ace of the Los Angeles mound staff, but he never has been able to win more than 12 games in a season because of elbow or back trouble.

Podres leads the National league today with three victories in three starts, and if he can avoid injuries he may come up with his best season.

The big disappointment of course, has been 21-year-old Don Drysdale. He has been shelved out of his three starts.

Around the league he was being picked as the outstanding young pitcher after his 17-9 record in 1957. He hasn't shown a thing so far.

The big fellow's poise is gone and he appears to have unconsciously tightened up to the point where his control is affected.

Drysdale's own appraisal:

"I'm so fouled up out there I actually don't know what I'm doing."

Manager Walt Alton thinks Don will conquer the problem, which he says is more mental than anything else.

Past Shouldn't Bind Cities, Speaker Says

Community Organizations Must Exist for Purpose, Not Tradition, Professor Declares

"Community development is a better move than community organization," Prof. Russell W. Nash, of the Coe college sociology department, told the Appleton Community council Monday evening at Jefferson school.

He spoke out strongly for re-evaluation on all levels of civic endeavor, to be sure that organizations exist for a purpose, not because of tradition.

"The organization man, the junior executive type, now is the community's most representative person," he said.

"The nation has discovered that technical advance does not lead to added freedom in human affairs," Nash went on.

"The efficiency of administrative control is too expensive if the change for the better in alert and lawful civic participation must be sacrificed to intellectual; this intellectual is definitely related to the changes in the character of the nation's labor force, he maintained. Around Home...

One of the women on the Post-Crescent editorial staff missed a day of work Monday because her mother received a broken rib over the weekend and our gal wanted to stay home to care for her. A good enough reason.

Today more details of the injury were available. It seems Dad, in a moment of affection, gave Mom a little hug around the middle. Crack went the rib and the doctor's verdict — "Broken."

AHS Juniors Take Tests for Scholarships

Between 140 and 145 junior students at Appleton High school wrote National Merit scholarship tests at the school this morning. This is the first year tests have been given to juniors and is the fourth year the testing program has been in effect.

Scores will be available in August and will help students determine their status for college entrance and scholarships.

A new 3-hour test is being used which will provide five sub-scores as well as a composite score. Emphasis is on broad intellectual skills, and on understanding of and ability to use what is learned, rather than on sheer knowledge of facts.

The five areas for sub-scores will be knowledge of words, ability in mathematics and quantitative thinking, ability to read in the social sciences and also in the natural sciences, and a knowledge of English usage.

Mrs. A. B. Turnbull, Wife of Publisher, Dies in California

Mrs. A. B. Turnbull, 66, died at 9 o'clock Monday night at her home in West Los Angeles, Calif., after a long illness. Her husband is publisher of the Green Bay Press-Gazette and president of the Post Publishing company, publishers of the Appleton Post-Crescent.

Mrs. Turnbull visited in Appleton on many occasions and had attended several annual dinners of the Post-Crescent Twenty-Five Year club with her husband. She was born Jan. 19, 1892, and was wed to Turnbull April 18, 1949. The couple has made their home in California for the last three years.

Survivors, besides her husband, include one son by a previous marriage, Thomas A. Wright; one brother, Gerald E. Young, Menlo Park, Calif.; and two sisters, Mrs. Tob Lowry and Mrs. James Engle, both of Seattle, Wash.

Funeral services will be Thursday in the Little Church of the Flower at Forest Lawn Memorial park, Glendale, Calif.

He gave several examples of what has been taking place in his home community of Cedar Rapids, Ia., in the last decade. A mental health agency, organized in 1948, now provides 6,000 counseling interviews a year to 1,000 cases, one-third of which were self-referred, and the others referred by courts, doctors and ministers.

The community still feels the need of a family service agency, he asserted. After self-evaluation, its YMCA has set up a branch in the suburban area, is thinking of decreasing its dormitory accommodations in favor of expanded facilities for family and young married women.

At the annual business meeting held before the talk, the Appleton Community council's new slate of directors was presented by Mrs. Merton M. Seals and unanimously accepted.

Members are: terms expiring in 1961, Rev. H. Shelby Lee, Robert Schlieve, F. Joseph Sensenbrenner and Don Morrissey. Expiring in 1960, Don Jury, Otto Rentner, Mrs. Ed Shannon, Harlan Kirk. Expiring in 1959, Mrs. Arthur Taylor, Mrs. Marion Freeman, Miss Martha Sorensen and John Mitchell.

Funeral services will be at 10 o'clock Thursday morning at Most Precious Blood Catholic church, New London, with burial in the parish cemetery. Friends may call at the Cline and Hanson Funeral home, New London, after 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The rosary will be said there at 8 o'clock Wednesday night.

Light-weight Jackets...

keep the wind at arm's length!

This fine Zero King jacket is made of nature's own wonder fabric — self-sealing Pima cotton. As soon as a drop of water dampens the yarn, the fibres swell, creating a natural water repellancy. Then, when dry, the fibres return to their natural state for cool, like-new comfort. The jacket is windproof and machine washable. It is perfect for all outdoor sports or relaxing.

In tan, grey, blue, white... $13.95

Bank Chairmen Fear Drop in U. S. Spending

Such a Situation
Would Call for Tax Cuts, They Assert

Washington — The heads of the nation's 12 federal reserve banks say "vigorous steps in the form of prompt-acting governmental measures would be indicated" if consumer spending is cut back substantially this spring.

Under such conditions, they said Sunday, "a substantial but temporary reduction in broadly based taxes would be most effective and appropriate." They spoke of cuts in personal income and corporation taxes and excise (sales) levies.

The reserve bank heads also said that in any government public works program the stress should be on projects "that have been started and can readily be accelerated, or on projects that are past the planning stage and can be put into motion rapidly."

At the same time, they said "the great danger in a public works program is that it will only attain substantial momentum after the greatest need has passed, and may then accentuate inflationary tendencies."

Discuss Remedies
The reserve bank presidents discussed anti-recession remedies in a joint reply to a questionnaire from Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), chairman of the senate Outagamie County Homemakers' council members assisted Appleton residents taking visual acuity tests aboard a driver screening van Monday. In the photo at the left, Mrs. Earl Hoffmann, homemaker from rural West DePere, and Dr. William H. Gibson, Appleton optometrist in charge of the program, watch as Daniel Ornstein, 708 E. North street, takes a brake reaction test. In the lower center picture, Robert Finnegan, 527 N. Rankin street, carries a sandwich board advertising the van. Mrs. Joseph Hennes, 523 N.

Mason street, upper center photo, is shown taking a ortho-rater test to determine muscle balance, depth perception and color vision. In the photo at the right Mrs. Howard Abendroth, left, route 1, Appleton, assists Mrs. Melvin Hertzfeldt, route 2, Appleton, with a field of vision test. The van will be parked on N. Appleton street near Oneida street today and tomorrow from 10 o'clock in the morning to 7 o'clock at night. It will be in Menasha and Neenah on Thursday and Friday, respectively. Solons Study Water Access

State Sen. Draheim
Reviews Legislative
Work in Lions' Talk

Public access to lakes and rivers in Wisconsin is one of the top problems under consideration by the state legislature's conservation committee, State Sen. William Draheim, Neenah, said in Appleton Monday.

He reviewed upcoming legislative work in an address to the Lions club.

Studies of waterway access will include consideration of areas where the program would be appropriate, purchase of right-of-way and advisability of charging a small fee for users of access facilities, Draheim stated.

Other Subjects

Other conservation subjects up for study include wetlands and migratory waterfowl management, deer range management and capital improvements on lands operated by the conservation commission.

Ways to improve coordination of state mental health services will be studied by the mental health committee.

The committee will investigate methods of recruiting professional personnel, developing alternatives to institutional care and evaluation of programs for physically handicapped and mentally retarded children.

Also under consideration will be programs for increasing hospital insurance coverage for treatment of psychiatric disorders, Draheim reported.

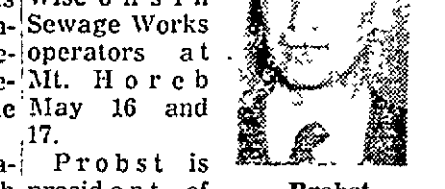

Members of the Menominee Indian study committee will tackle the problem of assisting the tribe with plans for control when federal trusteeship ends this year.

The highway committee will make an inventory of county and town highways and city and village streets, Draheim said. Also on its agenda is a bill relating to organization of traffic law enforcement.

Appleton Man Will Moderate Conference

Earl Probst, director of waste treatment at the Western Consulting company, will serve as moderator for the spring meeting of the Conference of Wisconsin Sewage Works Operators at Mt. Horeb May 16 and 17.

Probst is president of the conference. Members will hear talks on sewage treatment and sludge disposal. The program includes discussion of waste problems in the paper industry.
